Man of Year

R. D. Clayton, Realtor and lifelong Scott county resident, last night was named Man of the Year. The presentation was during the 21st annual Chamber of Commerce banquet.

In making the presentation, Master of Ceremonies Sam Harbin said of Clayton:

"He has consistently devoted time and effort to any program that was beneficial to Sikeston. He is a charter member of the Medallion club, Southeast Missouri Council of the Boy Scouts, and is responsible for Clayton Addition and Clayton East Acres in Miner as well as Garden of Memories cemetery and Clayton Heights Addition.

"He is a good man. He is good to his family, to his friends and to our city."

Clayton was instrumental in getting Malone and Hyde and the Moore Company of Missouri to locate in Sikeston. He has served on the Sikeston Industrial Development Corporation and is a director of the Chamber of Commerce.

Clayton was a livestock dealer until World War II, dealing in mules. Prior to the end of the war, he began selling in real estate. He has represented the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company 26 years and has been named an Arkansas Traveler, Missouri and Kentucky honorary colonel.

Retiring Chamber President Don Bohannon told the crowd that the past year was one of "action and achievement."

"We have acquired a new depth and earnestness in the past year and have continued a strong economy while the nation has experienced a poor economy," he said.

Bohannon cited the development of National Lock, Thompson Culvert, Caproco expansion, Air Illinois passenger service and Kingsway Plaza as major accomplishments during his term.

"There are some accomplishments however, that you can't put your finger on. Sikeston has become the strongest trading area in Southeast Missouri and is on the verge of big cityness," he said.

Newly elected chamber president Clem Beal said that "with the talent Sikeston has, if we combine our efforts, we can do anything we want."

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes spoke on revenue sharing, Vietnam and the lagging economy:

"I am persuaded that 1972 will be a year when Americans will vote their pocketbooks. More than anything else they are worried about money—about what public officials call 'economic conditions'.

"Missouri, like most states, has been in a period of severe financial crisis. The three major costs of state government—health, education and welfare—have been rising at a rate faster than the normal growth of tax revenue. Operating without a general tax increase since 1963, our state finally faced with no choice but to seek additional revenue. I proposed changes in the income tax since it is the most equitable source of taxation."

Hearnes said the financial crisis will shape public reaction in months to come.

"While we have high unemployment and continuing inflation, voters will be thinking first and foremost about money," he said.

"If that message has not yet been heard by some of our national leaders, then now is the time to make it clear. The people are looking for action to halt rising prices, to obtain tax relief, and to reduce unemployment. Whether they are answered with positive action or the lack of it, that is the issue which will have the greatest effect upon the votes they cast."

Hearnes said he was not a candidate for vice president and said he did believe a third term for governor would be approved.

An audience of nearly 300 attended the banquet meeting at the fieldhouse.

Nixon Defends Vietnam Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — While hinting that release of American prisoners might hasten complete U.S. pullout from Vietnam, President Nixon says he and others in government will not be intimidated by demonstrators' cries of "withdraw now."

Holding his first television-radio news conference in eight weeks, Nixon argued anew Thursday night that his gradual withdrawal policy will prove wisest in the long run.

But he did not dismiss the multiple antiwar protests that have become a daily fact of life here. He said:

"It doesn't mean that we are not going to listen to those who come peacefully, but those who come and break the law will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

Discussing tentative and mutual moves toward improved relations between the United States and mainland China, Nixon struck a cautionary note:

"I think that some of the speculation that has occurred in recent weeks since the visit of the table-tennis team to Peking has not been useful ... Progress is not helped in this very sensitive area by speculation that goes beyond what the progress might achieve."

TOKYO (AP) — When Japan signed her first postwar trade pact with the Soviet Union in 1957, commerce between the two nations for that year totaled $9 million. Twelve years later, it has soared to $909 million.

The rapid growth of economic exchange prompted M.V. Gubanov, chief of the Soviet trade delegation in Tokyo, to predict eight years ago that Russian-Japanese trade would reach $1 billion a year "in the near future."

The prediction was made as the Russians began overtures to Tokyo to participate in Soviet projects to develop the vast untapped mineral, timber and oil resources of sparsely populated Siberia.

Moscow proposed that Japan supply the machinery and other equipment and technical knowledge, while the Soviet Union would pay with products developed by the joint project.

Communist China accused the Russians of "throwing the door wide open for Japanese monopoly capital to plunder the natural resources of Siberia and the Soviet Far East."

The U.S. Jesuit publication America has suggested that the Russians might be seeking Japanese help in developing Siberia in order to keep the Chinese out.

The magazine said the proposed agreement "makes sense for Japan because of the growing need for new sources of raw materials to feed the capacious maw of a constantly expanding industry."

Geographically, Siberia is within easy reach of Japan, with only the Sea of Japan separating them.

Ryan Bid Low

Bids on the remodeling of the old First Baptist Church were opened yesterday. The church will house the Sikeston Activities Center.

Apparent low bidder was Ryan Construction with a bid of $156,000. This was $36,000 higher than cost estimates. All bids were taken under advisement by the activities center board members.

No Tax Increase

$87,165 City Budget Rise

The city council in a noon meeting yesterday approved the city budget for fiscal 1971-1972 beginning tomorrow. The new budget is an increase of $87,165 over last year.

Next year's budget is $1,044,155.

City manager Raymert Miller said there were "no major changes" in the figures for the coming year. He said that substantial funds were allotted in the budget for improvements to the old post office. The building will house the city administration building and the police department when completed.

The rate of taxation of $1.74 per $100 assessed valuation will remain the same as last year.

The largest expenditure in the new budget is for salaries and wages to city employes. This accounts for $348,455.

City employes will receive a 5.5 per cent pay increase and fringe benefits including one half cost of hospitalization insurance, paid by city, uniform allowance for policemen and firemen and retirement benefits.

Miller said that the budget

Choirs to Sing

Pop Tunes at High School

The high school concert choirs and The Moderne Chorale, will present a festival of popular music Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the high school cafetorium.

Accompanists will be Debbie Launius, Laretha Harris, and Bonnie Harris. Mrs. Patti Brennan, student teacher of Gordon Beaver and Beaver will direct the choirs.

Each choir and The Moderne Chorale will present popular, novelty, and Broadway musical arrangements such as "Oliver", "On A Clear Day," "Mr. President," "West-Side Story," "Roar Of The Greasepaint," and "The Appletree."

Solos and small ensembles will be added attractions. The girls' sextet, composed of Valerie Chandler, Jo Ann Williamson, Claudia Mulcahy, Barbara O'Guinn, Julie Harbin, and Sondra Stewart, will sing the theme from "Love Story" and a novelty number, "Gossip Is Fun." Larry Johnson will do a vocal solo, "Tracks Of My Tears," and accompanied by Leroy Hare.

Linda Litchford, Jo Ann Williamson and Sondra Stewart will sing solos in a choir presentation of "Who Will Buy", from "Oliver." Connie Johnson, Maida Harrington, Castella Gwin, and Wanda Gardner will present "Everybody," accompanied by Hare. Joel Allen will narrate his version of "Rindercella."

Stan McGill, David Evans, Alan McClellan, Larry Johnson, and Steve Waters will sing solos during the Moderne Chorale's "Hallelujah." The boys' quartet will sing "Maria" from "West Side Story." Members are McGill, Johnson, Joe Layton, and Steve Nickell. Mrs. Brennan will sing two numbers.

Darrell Barksdale will sing "Knock Three Times," and accompany himself on the guitar. A trio composed of Waters, Chuck Hanna and Alan McClellan, will present "The Losing End," and "My Sweet Lord." McClellan will sing "Put Your Hand In The Hand."

GOODWILL WEEK

Observance of National Goodwill Week this year, which takes place between May 2 and 8, holds more than usual significance. The nationwide self-help program of Goodwill Industries providing training and employment for the handicapped is a particularly fitting and unique illustration of the manner in which it is possible for a worthwhile endeavor to stand on its own feet through the voluntary actions and support of the American people.

The far-flung operations of Goodwill Industries are kept going by the generosity of those among us who provide the organization with the substance of its existence -- used clothes to be mended, as well as used toys, furniture and other objects that, with repair, may be sold for revenue to perpetuate Goodwill work. The repairing is done by handicapped persons employed by Goodwill. Beyond that, Goodwill Industries provide rehabilitation training and placement of handicapped persons in different industries that may have niches for them.

Over the years, countless thousands of handicapped have found new hope, jobs and economic independence through this outstanding organization. Goodwill Industries has demonstrated the capacity of the U. S. system to combine generosity with good business principles. At this time, as answers are being sought for a wide range of social problems, this holds a special significance for the entire nation.

SPECIAL DAYS AND EVENTS

IF YOU LISTEN . . . shhhh . . . listen . . . you may hear a very ominous background noise of rustling, chewing, grinding, whirring of May.

This is far different than the fun sounds associated with the month. These are the ominous sounds of thymore than 650,000 known insects with a population of over 3,000,000,000,000! In fact, a country acre may contain up to 30 million insects or about 10,000 per person! That is rather a frightening figure expecially when you think that everything we have thought of to control the insects ends up doing more damage to man. So just pass the flyswatter and enjoy the upcoming summer with all of your seen and unseen neighbors.

Kicking off the month of May is American Camping Week, Car Care Month, International Air Travel Month, Play-Your -Own- Harpsichord Month, Hearing and Speech Month, National Tavern Month, Senior Citizens Month, Radio Month for starters.

May 1 — Law Day

May 2 — Mother-In-Law Day, National Be Kind to Animals Week, National Goodwill Week

May 8 — Let's Go Fishing Week

May 9 — Mother's Day, National Hospital Week begins as does National Public Works Week

May 10 — National Salvation Army Week

May 15 — Armed Forces Day

May 20 — International Pickle Week

May 23 — Realtor Week

May 29 — Indianapolis 500 Mile Race

May 30/31 — Memorial Day.

Then comes the half-way mark month: June and the Fight the Filthy Fly month, Play Golf week, Flag day and Root Beer week.

BASIC FACTS FOR BETTER LIVING

Our guest editorial is taken from the writings of Kenneth Clark. Mistakes are often made on the basic level, so that is where Mr. Clark would have us start correcting the errors. But let him tell you in his own words:

I believe that order is better than chaos, creation better than destruction. I prefer gentleness to violence, forgiveness to vendetta. On the whole I think that knowledge is preferable to ignorance, and I am sure that human symphathy is more valuable than ideology. I believe that in spite of the recent triumphs of science, men haven't changed much in the last two thousand years.

I also hold one or two beliefs that are more difficult to put shortly. For example, I believe in courtesy the ritual by which we avoid hurting other people's feelings by satisfying our own egos. And I think we should remember that we are part of a great whole, which for convenience we call nature. All living things are our brothers and sisters. Above all, I believe in the God-given genius of certain individuals, and I value a society that makes their existence possible.

SEX EDUCATION

The school year moves on, and as it does the news stories appear from various and sundry places throughout the United States, reporting raging conflict over the issue of "sex education in the schools."

There is, we believe, a middle ground whereby rational people can come to agreement.

Sex education is not wrong in itself. It is better to explain the birth of kittens than to talk about the stork. But unless you relate sex to birth, and unless you relate the birth of a child to its Creator, you are mired in the mud at the animal level. Animals have instincts to guide their actions. There is no such thing as a "bad" dog from the moral point of view. But children must learn to do what is right by being taught right from wrong, and they must be educated in such a way that they will try to do what is right. The whole goal in education, from a moral point of view, is to see that the child does what he ought to do, until he finally wants to do what he ought to do.

Unfortunately, some of the "sex education" material offered to schools proposes to leave out all morality. This, of course, must be condemned. Many colleges, for example, have courses having to do with the study of crime. But there is a big difference between the study of criminology in order to fight crime — and the studying of the methods of crime in order to be a successful criminal.

Children who are taught about sex by their parents are the lucky ones. No one is better able to judge the need, the timing, or the opportunity better than one's own parents. No one will do so with more tender solicitude, with more loving care, with more Christian modesty, or with great tact. There is, of course, the rare exception of the parent who is not good and does not have the best interests of the child in mind — but that is also true of teachers in the classroom. A few words from parents about sex to each individual child, at the right times, are worth more than all the "sex lectures" in the world.

INCIDENT AT KENT STATE

Just one year ago April 30, President Nixon announced a major U. S. troop offensive into Cambodia. The following day the President attended a Pentagon briefing on the Cambodian developments. Speaking informally with civilian employees there, Nixon contrasted the "bums ... blowing up the campuses" with the "kids" fighting the war in Vietnam. On May 4, 29 Ohio National Guardsmen fired a total of 54 shots into a crowd of students participating in or watching a demonstration against the war in Indochina, killing four students and wounding nine others.

The events at Kent State will have not been sorted out to everyone's satisfaction, and never will be. Radical student leaders blamed President Nixon for "baiting" the National Guard into firing on students with his "bums" remark. To the Guardsmen, the shootings were a matter of self-defense after rocks were thrown. In the angry aftermath of Kent State, many campuses closed down as part of an antiwar and anti-Administration strike.

President Nixon appointed a Commission on Campus Unrest to probe the Kent State affair and other violence. It reported last Oct. 1 that "indiscriminate firing" by the National Guardsmen at Kent was "unnecessary, unwarranted and inexcusable." But it also said that "violent and criminal actions" by students during four days of events that led to the shooting contributed to the tragedy. On Oct. 16, a special state grand jury in Ravenna, Ohio, indicated 25 persons -- none of them Guardsmen -- on charges growing out of the May disturbances at Kent State. A U.S. District Court later ruled the grand jury report illegal, and the matter presently is before the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

At Kent State, a campus committee has scheduled memorial observances May 1-4. Only Kent Students with ID cards will be let into indoor events. But activists plan demonstrations and observances on other college campuses for May 4-5. Much of the angry emotion of a year ago has drained away. The gunshots in Ohio seem to have turned the college protesters inward, away from confrontation politics. What's left are bitter memories of the day when a generation in conflict learned the price of protest.

NEW YORK (AP) — If I ever learn to drive it won't be so that I can get PLACES. It will be so that I can get THINGS.

Trying to pay for something by check when you don't have a driver's license for identification is slightly more difficult than boarding an airplane with a rifle slung over one shoulder, a knife stuck through your belt and a button reading "I am a skyjacker" prominently displayed on your lapel.

Although I pay my income tax to the last penny, don't litter and absolutely never cross the street on red, without that driver's license I'm a criminal in the eyes of the cashier.

I have a Social Security number, a Blue Cross number, an employe identification number, a library card number, a checking account number, a savings account number and enough other sets of digits that belong exclusively to me to outfit a computer for life. Still, when it comes to cashing checks, I lack the one number sequence that really counts.

I haven't yet ascertained the correlation between being able to maneuver a car through traffic and living an upright life. But somehow possessing a driver's license puts you in a class with Boy Scouts in the trustworthy, honest and thrifty department. Not being able to drive automatically makes you suspect.

This being the case, I usually endeavor to make my purchases with cash, a transaction that does not require a knowledge of the rules of the road. However, on a recent occasion I found just the clock I'd been looking for in a department store and decided to make it mine via the check-writing routine. Ahead of me in the line, clutching some hi-fi equipment, was a definitely criminal typefrayed pants, dirty shirt, droopy mustache and uncombed hair.

"Look at those shifty eyes," I said to myself. "If they let him get by with a check I'll have no problem." After all, I thought smugly, I was wearing my best suit and looked affluent enough to have the price of the clock in my checking account.

The potential convict in front of me was processed as quickly as you could say, "May I see your driver's license, please?" and then it was my turn.

Although I produced any number of affidavits attesting to the fact that I was I, none was acceptable. I was sent up to the credit office where I was lengthily interrogated and, after having my picture taken I was allowed to quit the premises with the clock leaving behind what they obviously thought was a worthless check.

Next time I'll take my husband along to write the checks. He hates to go shopping but he'd hate even more to teach me to drive.

Hal Boyle is on vacation.

H.L. Hunt Says

THE DEMOCRATS
AND WELFARE

Governor Ronald Reagan of California has found that the public welfare program in his state, indeed the whole nation, is one of the biggest problems a government leader has to face today. This is not only true now but it has been for many years. Many people who should be gainfully employed are on the public dole, living on the taxpayer's money which has been cut thin by inflation.

The leaders of both parties of this nation have a golden opportunity to pick up strength by looking theissue of welfare squarely in the face and then coming forth with a strong policy of correcting the evil. The creation of new bureaucracies is not what is needed, but that is what many liberals advocate.

One positive attack party leaders should advocate is on the criminal swindles that have been perpetrated by some recipients of welfare checks. If a person unlawfully on the dole fears prosecution and jail time, he just may go out and find a job. Governor Reagan, a Republican, has promised action against offenders, and the Democrats ought to take a lesson from him. It would be a healthy step for the entire nation.

The profit-motive system is the best guarantee of jobs and a sound economy. Constructive, well-defined political leadership inspires private industry, and both our political parties should offer such leadership. The pleadings of the liberals for guaranteed income, rent subsidies and indiscriminate relief pay-outs are nonsense and undermining. All tend to sap our strength. We need to produce by work. Statesmen ought to advocate this, not a premium on laziness. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK: -- Everybody talks about it. Few know anything about it. Yet it could pay thousands of bright young objective chaps anywhere from $250 to $500 a day. And it could wipe out costly strikes be they stoppages of crime fighters, cops, fire fighters, auto workers, steel mill hands or garbage collectors.

"It" is arbitration -- which depends on arbitrators, of which there are mighty few. There are no more than 500 who work full time throughout the land -- but about the same 100 always are in demand. Like good bakers, tailors and chefs, they are a vanishing breed. For example:

The other day the black mayor of rotting Neward, N.J., Kenneth Gibson, announced the end of the violent, costly 11-week-old teachers strike, the longest in history. In its fifth week, three union leaders were sentenced to six months in jail and the union was fined $50,000 for violating an anti-strike injunction. Later, 347 teachers were suspended. And a hundred or so were barred by parents from returning.

Basic in the strike is the fight over the union's demand for the retention of an arbitration clause -- the submission of grievances to special arbitrators. After the settlement, Mayor Gibson announced that future arbitrators would have to be members of the National Academy of Arbitrators and reside in New Jersey. A quick check with the American Arbitration Association (AAA) here disclosed there were exactly seven such men in the state. One of them is the eminent David Cole of Paterson, former director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. He also is a former adviser to presidents. He hasn't much time to breathe, he's so much in demand. So he's not likely to sit in on the violent Newark racial duel.

This leaves exactly six eligibles. They're not going to rush into the volcanic social violence of Newark either.

Where are the other arbitrators? They are a disappearing breed. Most of them were trained during the compulsory arbitration days of World War II. There are some 2,000 on the official AAA and Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service panels. But most of these are whilom Solomons who work on a case or two. The 500 are full-time -- and about 100 are truly experienced and fully desired by both labor and management.

So grievances pile up in plants for lack of arbitrators. So do resentments. Cases idle three to six months before they are heard. It's all very expensive too.

Against this uptight economic panorama, Don Straus, president of the AAA, and the association's 10-member Labor-Management Advisory Committee have been modeling a plan for voluntary arbitration not only of grievances -- but of major collective bargaining contracts, of which some 1,200 have 1971 expiration dates.

Mr. Straus and some of the nation's most influential labor chiefs, such as AFL-CIO President George Meany who appointed the five union leaders to the advisory committee, and Steelworkers chief I.W. "Abe" Abel, a committee member, have been vitally interested. They are opposed to long costly strikes. They watched the GM walkout last year with horrified fascination. It cost the United Auto Workers (UAW) close to $200 million. The union had to hock its national headquarters and its $20 million Black Lake, Mich., marble-studded think tank to the Teamsters.

Now the Steelworkers are preparing to spend their $50 million strike fund on an August strike against the basic steel industry. And Joe Beirne's Communication Workers Union (CWA) has picked the Chesapeake and Potomac Phone Company as the target for their first walkout in the drive for a 25 per cent wage increase. And one CWA Local, 1101, in a recent strike was fined $1.7 million.

Add the $200 million cost of the auto workers strike -- which left the union almost bankrupt -- to the coming costs right on through the possible Longshoremen's strikes along all U.S. coasts, including the Great Lakes, and other walkouts and it is probable that the unions will spend more than half a billion dollars of their central treasuries this year on walkouts. These will be mighty costly picket lines.

So Mr. Straus' AAA has called meetings of the Labor-Management Advisory Committee and its subcommittee that is studying ways to improve collective bargaining. They will meet June 17 to discuss their findings and then present their report to the full committee June 18.

This small subcommittee is made up of Dave Cole and Dave Morse, former Director General of the International Labor Organization, which won the Nobel Peace Prize under his guidance. Two mighty erudite and gracious fellows after whom the U.S. State Dept. could well model its people.

Decades from now some labor historian will say that these sessions were the beginning of a strikeless society. But why wait? Labor's elder statesmen have been talking quietly about moving towards voluntary arbitration of contracts.

But they shy from any public discussion. They fear their militant, strike-happy rank and file. Mention arbitration to Abe Abel and you'd think this laconic fellow, head of the AFL-CIO's Economic Committee as well as the Steel Union, had just been shown a superimposed candid shot of himself cavorting with Elizabeth Taylor or Spiro Agnew.

So Abe Abel, like so many others who know they'll come out of a long costly strike with little more than they could have gotten at the beginning (as in the UAW case), work themselves into a corner and inevitable picket lines.

But there is hope. Meany, a most un-utopian fellow, has said strikes really are futile -- though no labor chief will surrender his union's right to call one. Labor has become middle class in the past 15 years. It can't really afford, nor does it need, to be radical any longer. It has a greater stake in the American system. Union members have obligations which are costly -- mortgages, car installments, ec. -- so strikes are less desirable.

He believes that "more and more people in the trade union movement -- I mean at the highest levels -- are thinking of other ways to advance without the use of the strike method...In what I would call some of the best unions, our real solid unions, they are now thinking and talking about voluntary arbitration openly."

That's what the man said. And that's what is being explored in the next few weeks. But now is the time to develop the young arbitrators. It will be a good profession soon.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON--Our stories about mismanagement and malfeasance in the Army's worldwide, $2.5 billion-a-year commissary system has stimulated a Justice Department investigation.

Government sleuths, in search of evidence to present to a grand jury, have poked around mainly in Washington. We suggest they also look into the garbage pits and sanitary fills of Europe.

They will find that furtive commissary officials have tried to cover up their buying blunders by dumping unsold food into the garbage. They have disposed of truckloads of frozen goodies and pizza pies that had spoiled in commissary freezers.

An Army document in our possession, for example, tells about how the Army bought enough Round-the-Clock Apple Snack to satisfy its commissary customers in Europe for three years and enough Round-the-Clock Berry Snack to last for five years. Yet these frozen delectables have a freezer life of only six months.

The commissary officials, in the deepest of secrecy, trucked tens of thousands of apple and berry snack to German sanitary fills, thereby enriching the soil at 37 cents a serving.

A three-year supply of pizza pies, which also became tainted after six months in commissary freezers, was converted similarly into German fertilizer.

--TOO MUCH CORN--

On another buying spree, commissary officials bought 95,000 cans of Del Monte white cream corn. This was enough to last 30 months, 18 months longer than the cans should be kept on the shelves. To get rid of them, the commissaries reduced the price from 19 to 11 cents per can and sold them off at a loss. We have been unable to confirm reports that some cans were simply thrown away.

We have traced some of these wild purchases back to Col. James McDowell, who then headed the purchasing board for the European Commissary system. Far from being censured for his waste, however, he has now been given an even more important commissary job. He is now deputy to Maj. Gen. John McLaughlin, who runs the quartermaster center at Fort Lee, Va.

My associate Les Whitten reached the extravagant colonel at Fort Lee and asked why he bought so much food that had to be plowed under. He snapped, "No comment," to all questions.

Whitten also tried to question him about reports that he showed unusual favoritism for Rockingham Chicken. After certain Rockinham products were declared unsanitary by government inspectors, the Pentagon gave European commissaries the option of buying other brands.

McDowell accepted a Rockingham proposal to continue stocking its products in different packages which had not been found unsanitary. The end result, however, was that the goods were unpopular with military housewives.

But the Justice Department, if it really wants to get to the bottom of the commissary scandals, should investigate the Defense Supply Association. This is the military food lobby which has been dictating Pentagon commissary policy. The Pentagon's top logistics officers, who have jurisdiction over the commissary system, hold honorary positions in the association.

--WAR CRIMINAL--

The Dow Chemical Company, already the bane of pacifists for trafficking in napalm, has invited a convicted Nazi war criminal to address an employee seminar next month.

The guest, Dr. Otto Ambros, was one of the technicians in charge of developing advanced poisonous gases for Hitler's Reich. He was a director of the I.G. Farben Chemical Company's plant at Auschwitz.

The specific gases he helped develop were not used to kill prisoners at Auschwitz. However, the gas used to exterminate Jews was also developed by his company, and testimony of his war crimes trial at Nuremberg revealed that he was fully aware of this.

Moreover, the Farben plant he headed used thousands of Auschwitz prisoners as slave labor on construction projects. An estimated 25,000 prisoners, brutally overworked, died at the Farben plant.

Ambros was formally charged with "slavery and mass murder." He was convicted and sentenced to eight years in jail. "The use of concentration camp labor and forced foreign workers at Auschwitz with the initiative displayed by the officials of Farben in the procurement and utilization of such labor, is a crime against humanity," said the Nuremberg court's opinion.

E.N. Brandt, a spokesman for Dow, said Ambros had been invited to discuss "the German chemical industry" at Dow headquarters in Midland, Mich., on May 12. Brandt said he understood Ambros had obtained the necessary clearance and was coming.

It is not surprising that Dow should be friendly with Dr. Ambros, for the company was found guilty during the war of operating an international magnesium cartel with Farben and the Aluminum Company of America.

State Department officials questioned here said they had heard nothing of any effort by Ambros to obtain a visa. It was understood, however, that he had made the request through the U.S. consulate in Stuttgart, Germany, and that word of it might not have reached Washington.

Hair and Teeth Aren't the Only Reasons to Love a Person

Dear Ann Landers: I felt sorry for the woman who married her husband for his hair and teeth. She wrote that a gum condition is threatening his teeth and his hair is falling out. The woman confessed, "I know it isn't right, but I'm losing interest in him and I don't know what to do about it."

My husband always joked about having fallen in love with MY hair and teeth. In my youth, everyone remarked on my beautiful, auburn mane. My husband was so proud of it he wouldn't let me wear a hat -- or even a head scarf on windy days. My teeth were unusually beautiful. I once won a prize for the prettiest smile. A toothpaste company asked me to be a model.

Ten years ago I was in an automobile accident -- head-on collision with a drunk driver on a one-way street. My front teeth were knocked out and I sustained a head injury. They had to shave my head to operate. My hair grew back thin and scraggly -- a mousey brown. Lucky for me my husband saw something in me worth staying around for. I hope the woman will also find compensatory virtues when her husband's hair and teeth go. ---Sympatico.

Dear Sym: I'm with you. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: It's a standing joke that physicians have illegible handwriting. To those of us who must decipher it, it's no laughing matter. I speak for pharmacists, nurses, hospital employes, etc. It's time-consuming as well as nerve-wracking to figure out where it's "o" or "a", "r" or "e", "i" or "y", "2" or "3", "7" or "9". More than once I've given up in despair and spent hours locating a doctor to check out his instructions.

Your column has a high readership among doctors, Ann. Please tell them. ---Taylorville.

Dear Tayl: I'll try: Now hear this, all docs who have rotten handwriting - which includes most of you: Please take an extra minute to write prescriptions and instructions legibly. Thanks very much, ---on behalf of those who must read your handwriting, and those whose lives depend on it.

Dear Ann Landers: We hear a great deal about the bad manners of the young. What about the bad manners of the elderly folks past 70? A relative recently decided to make her home with us. She is a semi-invalid, but mentally alert, sharp-eyed with a tongue to match.

We help her in and out of the shower. We serve her meals on a tray when she prefers not to come to the table. We drive her wherever she wishes to go. In short, we wait on her hand and foot. We do it because we want to, not so she will thank us, but it would be nice if she'd say "Thank you" - just once.

When she offers our grandchildren a cookie or a piece of candy she always snaps, "Now what do you say?" Interesting how she insists on being thanked for every little thing, but she never thanks anyone. What do you suggest we say or do? ---Had It In Seattle.

Dear Had: Say and do nothing. It's awfully hard to train a person past 70. Some elderly folks figure they are entitled to service and respect merely because they have lived a long time -- and they are. Elderly people often develop aches and pains and it's a struggle for them to keep going. Naturally they aren't always in a jolly mood -- in fact at times they are sour and crotchey.

So continue to be helpful and kind and don't expect to be thanked. Do it because you want to.

Alcohol is no shortcut to social success. If you think you have to drink to be accepted by your friends, get the facts. Read "Booze And You -- For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Pitching Rules Sub-District

Today's sub-district baseball championship game at VFW stadium matching Sikeston and Kelly at 3 p.m. has a little more on the line than just a berth in the state tournament playoffs.

It will also decide the winner of the Scott County mythical baseball championship, which has in years past been dominated by the Sikeston Bulldogs.

The SHS diamond crew are defending champs and are favored in the encounter with hard-throwing Don Miller expected to be on the mount.

In Thursday's semi-finals, both the Hawks and Bulldogs had to rely on their pitching as SHS eliminated Oran 2-0 behind the three-hit hurling of Bob Blankenship and Kelly got behind the three-hit pitching of Jeff "Jethro" Jackson to beat Lilbourn, 4-3.

Oran's Matt LeGrand held the big SHS sticks silent through four innings before they got on the scoreborad, connecting for its only hits (2) of the game and scoring what proved to be the winning tally.

The Bulldogs added an insurance tally in the sixth as John Vines scored after reaching second on a throwing error and going to third on David Craig's sacrafice to left. He scored on an other Oran miscue.

Kelly rallied from a 2-0 deficit in the second inning, scoring three runs after Lilbourn opened the game with a pair and handed lefthander, Pat McClarty the defeat.

The Hawks broke a 3-3 deadlock after Lilbourn tied the game with a single run in the fourth, scoring in the sixth.

Mets Sweep Series

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The New York Mets have left town with a string of victories and Manager Gil Hodges is happy about both his pitching and hitting.

The Mets, 1969 world champions, buzzed in with a 7-7 record and left with an 11-7 mark after flattening the St. Louis Cardinals again Thursday 7-0.

During the series their bats rang out 48 hits and produced 30 runs while their pitching was choking off the Cards with only four runs.

Ahead of the series finale, Hodges' pitchers had combined a 2.31 earned run average and it dipped more on a combined three-hitter by Nolan Ryan and Danny Frisella.

"I'd have to rate his performance exceptional," said Hodges after Ryan, a 6-foot-2 righthander, set the Cardinals down on two singles through six innings.

He walked eight Cardinals and struck out five before Danny Frisella mopped up by retiring nine of the 10 batters he faced.

"I'd say what Ryan did was exceptional," Hodges said, "because he came back after loading the bases and got a strikeout when he needed it in the sixth."

"I felt I knew what I was doing," said Ryan. "I was in and out with my fast ball instead of up and down."

The Cardinals' Joe Torre, whose 22-game hitting streak was snapped, said "I've never seen Ryan throw any harder."

Torre, who fell three games short of the National League record for a season-opening hitting streak, went 0-for-3 on a groundout, pop fly and strikeout.

Ryan (2-0) worked out of the Mets' only tough moment by fanning losing pitcher Jerry Reuss (2-3) with the bases loaded and the Mets clinging to a 1-0 lead in the sixth.

An inning later Donn Clendenon's three-run homer was the big blow for the Mets.

"I don't want to get into a discussion of whether they should have pinch-hit for Ruess, but I'd rather face nine pitchers in their lineup than nine hitters," Hodges suggested.

Looking ahead Hodges said the Mets could be better than the '69 Cinderella team that won the world series.

"I think we're a better club right now than we have been," he said, "just because of experience alone. The last four days have been beautiful, that's for sure."

Bucks After Sweep

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks, a 3-year-old expansion team which spurted ahead with Lew Alcindor and solidified under Oscar Robertson, goes after the National Basketball Association championship tonight.

A victory over the shackled Baltimore Bullets would give the Bucks a four-game sweep, only the second in the 25-year history of the NBA and the first since the 1958-59 season.

Milwaukee has averaged only 102 points in the three previous games, yet decisions haven't been close.

The Bullets have averaged just 90 points a game, with Robertson dogging Earl Monroe every step of the way and Alcindor taking away Baltimore's inside game with his shot blocking and intimidation.

Even the eternal optimism of Baltimore Coach Gene Shue seemed to have lost its snap.

"I've always felt a team has to have four wins before anything happens," Shue said, "and they only have three. There's only one place for us to go—up."

But the Bullets will be without the services again of AllStar forward Gus Johnson, who will be sidelined with ailing knees which are due for an operation next month.

Without Johnson, center Wes Unseld has been forced to do most of the rebounding for Baltimore. He has tried mightily, but at 6-7½ he is some eight inches shorter than Alcindor.

"Milwaukee has taken away our inside game completely," Shue said. "When we go in, they close up the lane and Alcindor has been blocking more shots than ever. They've played excellent defense, with a lot of good work on Earl — double teaming him and other things."

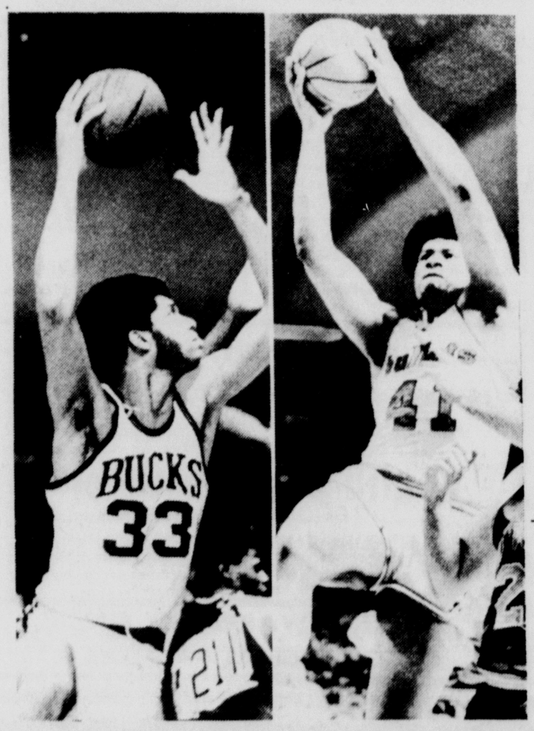
Shue said Baltimore executed its plays better in the third game than previously, "but we turned the ball over carelessly too much, and missed a lot of shots we should make."

In addition to three straight in the best-of-7 series, the Bucks whipped Baltimore four out of five during the regular season.

Two years ago, in their inaugural season, the Bucks finished with a 27-55 record and then drafted Alcindor.

With big Lew scoring at a 28.8-point average, Milwaukee improved to 56-26 the following year, and then obtained Robertson in a trade with Cincinnati after Oscar nixed one which would have sent him to Baltimore.

During the recent season, Milwaukee posted a 66-16 record, and has lost just twice in 13 playoff games.



IN THE SPOTLIGHT as the Milwaukee Bucks battle the Baltimore Bullets for the National Basketball Association championship are centers Lew Alcindor of the Bucks, left, and Wes Unseld of Baltimore.

NCAA Ruling Brings Appeals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The NCAA ruling on junior college transfers cut a swath through Big Eight football camps in Missouri and Kansas Thursday and jerked some promising athletes out of spring practice.

Eleven football transfers were notified they could not complete spring training, nor could they even practice with the teams teams next year.

Coaches at Kansas, Kansas State and Missouri universities expressed grave concern over the athletic future of the players, and hope they would remain in school despite the surprise ruling.

At Kansas, Coach Don Fambrough lost two starters, first string defensive end Eddie Sheats, a Hutchinson junior college star, and Mitch Sutton, first string defensive tackle. Also lost to the Jayhawks were second strijg linebacker Mike Gardner and reserve tackle Jerry Adams.

Kansas State loses Chuck Price, offensive tackle and a juco all-star, halfbacks Jerry Johnson and Norman Young, and Steve Eaton, defensive tackle.

The coaches were bitter over the matter, with Fambrought saying he felt there was "absolutely no logic" to the interpretation.

The latest NCAA guideline is that an athlete must either be (1) a junior college graduate, (2), have spent two years at a junior college and have 48 hours of transferable credits, or (3) transfer after one year with a minimum of 24 hours credit and a 2.5 grade point average.

More than 70 schools nationally are expected to lose athletes by the ruling.

"My main concern is for the players iinvolved," Fambrough said. "The silly thing is that they cannot even practice with us next year. It was really tough, having to tell the boys that they were out entirely for next year."

At Columbia, Onofrio said he would appeal the NCAA decision, saying he hoped for a "more lenient interpretation" by the governing body.

"I hope there might be some means of appealing the decision and I am personally committed to use every means to see this is done," he promised.

Dean Arthur W. Nebel, Missouri conference faculty representative, said he disagreed with the ruling. He said they "are complicated and confusing and they lend themselves to a difference of interpretation.

Coach Vince Gibson at K-State expressed surprise that his four players would be restricted from practice next year.

"If that's true, it's a horrible thing," Gibson told the Associated Press. "If they can't even practice, how can they be expected to be ready to play the following year. That's not fair at all."

Coach Gibson said if the rules had been clear, the students could have stayed at their junior colleges one more semester to help fulfill the eligibility requirements.

The Wildcat coach said the one bright factor was that the students involved could stay in school, and that the NCAA did not require their scholarships be lifted.

"The kids haven't done anything wrong," he added. "I just hate to see them punished."

Neelyville, Naylor Win

BROSELEY— Neelyville and Naylor are all that are left on the top bracket of the sub-district baseball tournament here as they both edged out opening game foes. Neelyville enjoyed a 13-4 bulge over Bloomfield. Winning pitcher was Jenkins and loser was Ballwin. Naylor downed Risco 7 to 2, winning pitcher was Ronnie Parrent.

Thursday the final series of first round games end as Puxico and Bernie battle at 1:00 p.m. and Doniphan and Twin Rivers meet at 3:00. The winners of these two games will advance to semi final action on May 3. The victor there will tangle with the upper bracket winner on the 6th of May for a berth in the District playoffs.

Turkey Kill New Record

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)— The total kill in six days of Missouri's wild turkey season added up to 2,035 Tuesday, a record for modern times, the State Conservation Department reported.

A new record-sized bird was bagged by Bob Stephens of Salem, Mo. It tipped the scales at 33 pounds, 13 ounces.

More than 3,000 fish were added to the two year old man-made lake last week along with the big 20-pounder and the Lions club and Fire department, co-sponsors of the lake, have put up the award.

Floyd Cravens is the manager of the lake, which will be open seven days a week throughout the summer.

Gov. Wallace Congratulates Alabamians

ATLANTA (AP)--Henry Aaron said Thursday he received a telegram of congratulations for hitting his 600th career home run from Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

"I got a nice one from George and I'm mighty pleased he sent it," said the Atlanta Braves star, who is a native of Mobile, Ala.

The telegram read in part:

"Congratulations on hitting your 600th home run. All Alabamians are very proud of the baseball accomplishments of you and Willie Mays."

Mays was born in Westfield, Ala.

Puxico, Twin Rivers In Final

By BILL HARRISON

BROSELY--- Puxico and Twin Rivers advanced in the semi - finals of the Sub - District baseball tournament held here Thursday afternoon as Puxico whipped Bernie 6-4 in the first game and Twin Rivers edged Doniphan 13-12.

Puxico had to put together a last inning rally to overcome the Bernie Mules.

The Indians crossed the plate first by scoring one run in the top of the first inning. Bernie came right back in the bottom of the frame to tie 1-1. Neither team could score until the top of the fourth when the Indians took a 2-1 lead. The Mules erupted for four bip markers in the bottom of the fourth and held a 5-2 lead going into the top of the seventh.

Tom Turner capped a four run inning with a big three run homer to win the game for the Puxico team. Jack Hill, who was the winning pitcher, hit a homerun in the top of the first inning. Henson hit a four bagger in the top of the fourth for the Puxico.

Puxico will play Twin Rivers on May 3rd for the right to play for the championship of the tournament.

The second game of the afternoon turned out to be a wild affair as both teams scored in each inning but two.

Twin Rivers started the scoring with two runs in the top of the first. The Doniphan Dons came back to knot the score in the bottom of the second at 2-2.

Twin Rivers took a 6-3 by scoring two runs in each of the third and fourth innings and the Dons plating one in the fourth.

Doniphan came right back to push across four runs in the bottom of the fifth to take a 7-6 lead. Both teams scored two runs in the sixth and Doniphan led 9-8 going into the top of the seventh.

Loyd Merriman, who was the winning pitcher, hit a homerun in the seventh to help Twin River regain the lead and win the game. Doniphan tried to come back one more time but fell one run short as they could score but three runs.

Drug Crisis Shocks Religious Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — In smuggling rose 88 per cent. the last year, arrests for drug Seizures of marijuana tripled. They multiplied 15 times in the case of cocaine, more than doubled for hashish. Local arrests of dope pushers and users soared across the United States.

This is part of the picture of rising drug traffic outlined by government officials last week before an extraordinary White House gathering of top-level leaders of the nation's religious bodies.

"At most, we have 10 years to prevent a social catastrophe, if it is not too late already," said John Ingersoll, director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, which has 1,000 agents ferreting out suppliers.

Myles J. Ambrose, Bureau of Customs commissioner, said the drug "cancer in our society" has spread with "frightening speed and intensity" among the young, in colleges, in businesses and the military.

"We have an epidemic on our hands that can produce an American disaster," he said. "We've lost more Americans to heroin than there are victims of the war."

The gathering involved a daylong presentation of facts, figures, drama and films, depicting the scope of drug abuse, expanding efforts of the government to combat it and appeals to the church leaders for help.

President Nixon, saying the "heart of the problem" lay in the human spirit and motivation, told the churchmen: "If there is an answer, you have it."

It was the first time the Nixon administration had met with the country's religious leadership, including top officials both of mainline and smaller denominations, Christian and Jewish.

"It is clear that on this issue we all have a responsibility, and it's something we can move together on in various ways," commented the Rev. Dr. A. Dale Fiers, of Indianapolis, chief executive of the Christian Church (Disciples).

The Rev. Dr. J.H. Jackson, of Chicago, president of a 5.5-million-member predominantly black denomination, the Baptist Convention of the U.S.A., said after hearing the reports of increasing drug abuse and its ravages:

"We've come to a crisis and an impasse. The government has recognized it as a moral problem and also the dynamism of religion and its responsibility for renewal in our culture and for restoring the lost values of the nation."

John C. Broger, director of the Armed Forces Office of Information, linked drugs to the rock-music culture, citing evidence from song lyrics, the youth underground and rock festival scenes.

"My personal conviction is that we are facing the worst crisis in 1,000 years," he said.

Dr. Bertram S. Brown, director of the National Institute of Mental Health services, said part of the solution is finding "meaningful alternatives for turning people on to life rather than a chemically induced haze."

He described damaging effects of various addictive drugs. As for marijuana, he said two more years of research now in progress will be needed to determine the full effects, but it already is known that marijuana can "impair memory" and users of high-potency marijuana sometimes develop anxiety and panic.

In Saigon, Ambrose said, "you can buy marijuana as easily as toothpaste" and heroin almost as easily.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and secretary of housing and urban development, George Romney, also stressed the spiritual nature of the problem, citing a vacuum in values, meaning and purpose, particularly among the young.

Egil Krog Jr., the President's deputy assistant for domestic affairs, said concern shown by the religious leaders indicated the value of another possible similar gathering in two months.

Telephone Ministries Answering Needs

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Sometimes, the callers are simply lonely. Sometimes they're worried, afraid, angry or desperate and on the verge of suicide. Whatever the difficulty, trained counselors seek to give immediate, initial helpby telephone.

It's a "vital ministry to human need," says the Rev. Ross W. Whetstone, executive director of CONTACT Teleministry Inc., of Nashville, Tenn., a national accrediting agency for the work.

Across the country, hundreds of such operations have begun in recent years, making emergency guidance and sympathy available to troubled people—on an individual basis—merely by dialing a telephone number.

"We have been given a great instrument for use in Christian service and we must use it with understanding and sensitivity," says the Rev. Mr. Whetstone, of the Methodist Board of Evangelism.

That board set up the new national coordinating council for telephone ministries, which the Rev. Mr. Whetstone now heads, and which this spring was incorporated as a separate, interdenomination agency.

So far, it has accredited telephone-counseling centers in 16 U.S. communities, and centers in at least 17 other communities are in various stages of qualifying.

To do so, they must meet certain standards, such as operating on a 24-hour basis, and volunteer counselors must have undergone at least 50 hours of training. Scores of other centers operateon a part-time or specialized basis.

The movement is "one of the greatest ideas embraced by the Christian church in decades," the Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, of New York City's Marble College Church, told 1,000 delegates to the first national teleministries conference this month in Newport News, Va.

His church operates one of the newest, busiest accredited centers, where about 70,000 callers have received guidance over "Help Line" since it was started a year ago. Summarizing the first year's results, a report says:

"Lives have been saved. Lonely people have found friends. Narcotics addicts have been helped back to normal lives. Haven has been found for unwed mothers. Prostitutes have been started on the road to reform. Marriages have been mended. Runaways have decided to return home."

God's Salvation Power

Romans 1:16 is a great verse for removing our shame from and establishing our faith in the miracle-working power of Christ's gospel. It is no less than Paul's own testimony to the good news. It can shape your convictions.

The sun is God's provision for light, heat, and energy. The rain is God's provision for water, refreshing, and vegetation. The earth is God's provision for man's habitation. Healing is God's provision for man's health. Language is God's provision for man's communication. This is only a start, but in every case what God provides is completely adequate.

Paul says the gospel is God's provision for salvation. He even says it is God's powerful provision to this end. Being a "power" for salvation, it can overcome ignorance, unbelief, sinfulness, wworldliness, indifference, anxiety, pride, and every other obstacle in the sinner's way. If all of God's provisions are adequate, how much more shall God's "power" produce the desired result?

Further, we are not ashamed to confess that the sun gives light, heat, and energy because the truth is established among us. We believe it and that settles it. So Paul believed the gospel is God's salvation power because he used it. He saw that it produced what God promised, and the fear of failure and embarrassment were gone. He proclaimed. God produced. He belived. He was not ashamed. It can happen to you!

Dunklin Church Hosts Bible Conference

CAMPBELL — A Bible Conference is being held at Calvary Baptist Church through Saturday, according to pastor Clifford Rice.

Baptist preachers of the area are presenting the messages each night, as follows: Wednesday, Mike Rice, ministerial student at Southern Baptist College, Walnut Ridge, Ark., with special music by students of the college; Thursday, Rev. Kenneth Treet, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Piggott, Ark., and Rev. Sonny Simpson, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, Corning, Ark.; Friday: Rev. Leonard Pigg, pastor of the Lone Hill Baptist Church near Poplar Bluff, and Rev. Jack Mick, pastor of the Dorena Baptist Church, Dorena; Saturday: Rev. Richard Adams, pastor of the Portageville First Baptist Church, and Rev. Sid Peterson, pastor of the Hayti First Baptist Church.

Services begin at 7:30 each evening. Everyone is invited to attend. A nursery will be provided each evening. The Calvary Baptist Church is located at North and Midland streets in Campbell.

Nun Receives Letter From Purse-Snatcher

DETROIT (AP) — A Dominican nun whose purse was grabbed as she walked alone on a Detroit street got a letter from the repentent purse - snatcher. It read:

"I am more than sorry about what happened on the 17th of January, but to a certain extent I was forced for my reactions. I hope I didn't hurt your arm.

"I'm a drug addict. If I had a job, I could kick my habit."

A postscript promised: "When I get some money, I'll send you yours."

BSU Choir to Sing at Trinity

The Baptist Student Union choir of Southeast Missouri State College of Cape Girardeau will be in concert at Trinity Baptist Church, Highway 61 North, Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

This 50-voice choir, under the direction of Dr. Robert Cox, will lead, in song and witness, the mid-week period of worship.

How the Bible Developed

II The Septuagint

The Bible has been an ever developing living great Book over the centuries. The Old Testament was first written in Hebrew but later many Jews settled in various countries of the Greek world and Greek became their daily language. It became imperative that the scriptures be translated into Greek.

Possibly the first and most valuable of these ancient translations into Greek was the Septuagint, meaning 70. According to history, in 275 B. C. Ptolemy II of Alexandria, Egypt, then the seat of learning and culture in the world, invited 70 or 72 Jewish scholars and translators from Palestine to translate their Hebrew scripture into Greek. Legend has it that the translation was made in 70 days, hence the name Septuagint.

The importance of the Septuagint in the development of the Bible is that it is the most reliable and most readable of all the early translations into Greek and has been handed down to us.

Scholars and translators since have used it and it was the beginning of spreading the Old Testament throughout the world.

Sikeston Girl Chosen For Mission Program

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—The Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board, at its April meeting, approved 74 young adults for journeyman training this summer.

Among those approved was Jeannette Meredith, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Meredith, 502 Ruth St., Sikeston, Mo. Currently a senior at Belmont College, Nashville, Tenn., Miss Meredith will be employed to teach missionary children in elementary grades in Guatemala.

The intensive seven-week journeyman training course prepares Baptist men and women no older than 26 for two years of work overseas with career missionaries.

They will train at Meredith College, Raleigh, N.C. Their job assignments include teaching, youth work, publishing, nursing, filming and television production, bookkeeping and secretarial work.

Jeannette Meredith

This is the seventh contingent of journeymen employed since the program was begun in 1965.

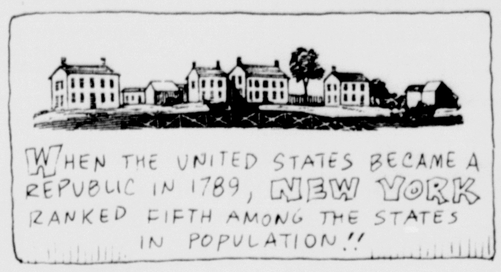
Generation Gap 15 Minutes

GLENDALE, Calif.(AP)—The generation gap in Bible reading seems to be about 15 hours, the Seventh-Day Adventist Church reports.

Adult volunteers took turns reading aloud from the 874,746-word King James Bible as the new year began. At the same time 200 others, most of them teen-agers, began reading from a variety of newer translations.

The adult group finished the book at 12:20 p.m. Monday, about 84 hours after the start and 15 hours after the younger group.

Church spokesmen said modern translations contain fewer words than the King James Bible and younger readers read faster than adults.



Parishioners Fight Lack of Priest

CLEAR CREEK, Mo. (AP)—Catholics in this central Missouri hamlet are disputing with religious fervor the lack of an assigned priest for their 100-year-old church, St. John's.

Mass is recited once a week by a visiting priest from Pilot Grove, Mo., but for all other services, including confession, parishioners of this Cooper County community must drive to St. Joseph's in Pilot Grove.

"Being Catholics, we know the bishop is boss and what he says goes, but in this case he's wrong," said Ed Twenter, one of the churchgoers.

A close friend, Fred Larm, agreed. "No priest, bishop or government officials are going to tell us where to go to church. We've made up our minds, and we're going to fight to keep our parish open."

The Jefferson City diocese, administered by Bishop Michael McAuliffe, assigned St. John's parish to mission status when the church's last permanently assigned priest left for health reasons. The parish school was closed for the fall term.

Twenter and Larm drafted a petition to the bishop who replied there were no priests or nuns available for the parish.

Four Injured

Four were injured in two traffic mishaps in the Bootheel area last night.

At 6:35 p.m. on highway 61 two miles north of Marston in New Madrid county, a 1963 Ford traveling north, drivn by Brenda Kay Prince, 21 of Marston, attempted to pass another vehicle, ran off the road and overturned, the highway patrol said.

The driver sustained a fractured right ankle. A passenger, Glen M. Peterson, 32, of New Madrid, suffered a back injury and a possible fractured collarbone.

Both were taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

On a gravel street at 7 p.m. in Wardell in Pemiscot county, a 1968 Dodge going north, driven by Bert Craig, 50, of Hayti, did not yield the right-of-way at an unmarked intersection, the patrol said, and struck a westbound 1962 Chevrolet, driven by James Edward Lemar, 20, of Caruthersville.

Lemar sustained possible fractured ribs. A passenger in the Craig auto, Ima Jean Craig, 41, of Hayti, sustained possible fractured ribs.

Both were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in Hayti.

About Our Schools

By Lynn Twitty

As the end of the school term approaches, and in fact, only about five weeks remains, it might be wise for parents to discuss their student's progress during the year and to emphasize the necessity of making good use of the remaining days of school. The student who might be behind at this time, could with better than usual effort, perhaps accomplish enough work to complete the year satisfactorily. Any student, regardless of his progress, could add to his fund of knowledge or skill by making a strong effort.

It is fairly easy at this point in the school term or in fact, this time of year, to let down and close the school on a descending note, consequently this advice. The faculty, we believe, will continue to use everyday to the end of school as usefully and as educationally valuable to the student as they possibly can.

W. F. "Bill" Sikes, Director of the Manpower Program has just advised us that it is probable that we will be designated a MDTA Skill Center by the Federal Government. This is a refinement of the program to provide vocational training to out-of-school youth and adults in order to provide them with a saleable skill and thus to find employment. Mr. Sikes and members of his faculty are preparing a proposal outlining the type of training which will be offered and with careful estimates of the funding necessary, for submission to the State Director of MDTA.

The skill center designation would provide additional services for the trainees which not only would improve their training opportunities, but would assist them with problems or needs which if unmet might hurt their chances for employment. Additional counseling services to assist in finding a job for which they will be fitted, will be better than under the present program although some of this help is now available. As skill centers are rated high in priority by the Department of Labor and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, it would also probably assure us of a continuation of vocational training for this area.

If approved, our Board of Education would receive supplemental funding to pay for the extra program and services which would be available to students. The current MDTA - Multi - Occupation Project which has been funded in the amount of $750,000 would be upped by 20% which means that the school would receive about $150,000 additional. Approximately $40,000 of this would be allocated to employment services for the aid which they would provide and the other $110,000 to educational opportunities for the students.

Currently 111 adults are enrolled for full time occupation training under MDTA here. During the .six years that the program has been sponsored by our Board of Education, approximately 2,001 students have been trained. Of these about 85% have been employed which, we think, is a rather remarkable record for students who, for the most part, could not find jobs before they received this training.

According to Bob Miller, Director of Elementary Education, a summer program enrolling 180 students, grades 2-5 , will be conducted this summer at Southwest School. These students will be selected on the bases of their educational need, primarily those who have fallen behind, by teachers and principals in the elementary program.

An effort will be made during the six weeks that the program will run to provide educational opportunities or experiences that will help to bring these children nearer to the level of work which they should be accomplishing.

In addition to classroom work, field trips such as to the zoo, to ball games, for miniature golf, bowling, etc. will liven the program.

Eighteen classroom teachers; one director; one nurse and the necessary custodial and food service employees will conduct the program. Meals will be served free to those students who are enrolled and transprotation by bus will be provided along designated routes.

The hours will be from 9 A.M. to 1 P.M. The school will start June 14 and continue to July 23 with July 4 as a holiday. The cost of operating the program will be provided by federal funds under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. Parents of those children who are selected and who are eligible for the program, will be notified in the coming weeks.

At this time, state financing for Missouri's public schools for the next school year is uncertain. The General Assembly has not completed revenue bills necessary to provide the money which the state is obligated to pay for education in Missouri under the State School Foundation Program. The House has passed House Bill 670, which extends the 1971 state income tax for another year, but the Senate has not yet acted on this or other revenue procucing legislation.

The financial needs of the schools, higher education and other essential state services are critical. For this reason, it is important that concerned citizens, and certainly everyone is involved in education and benefits from it should be expressed to our senator, Albert Spradling. We appreciate the support which our representative, Tony Heckemeyer, gave to HB 670.

Federal Jury Indicts Bowers

ST. LOUIS— A federal grand jury indicted a Scott City, Mo., man on firearms charge Wednesday and announced two other firearms indictments handed down two weeks ago.

The grand jury reported in the court of the U.S. District Judge James H. Meredith.

Indicted Wednesday was Ralph Leon Bowers, 40, of 600 Ruth ave., Scott City, for willfully and knowingly engaging in the business of firearms without a license. The penalty is a fine of not more than $5,000, a prison term of not more than five years or both.

Suppressed indictments were returned April 14 against Donald John Madsen, 36, of Rural Route 1, Pacific, Mo., and John Jacob Madsen, 29, of Star Route, Bloomsdale, Mo. The suppression was lifted Wednesday after the men were apprehended.

Both men were charged with possession of a firearm after being convicted of a felony. The indictment stems from an incident in a tavern in Festus, when both Madsens allegedly struck one patron and pointed a gun at another.

Battlefield Deaths Top 45,000-Mark

SAIGON (AP)--The U.S. Command confirmed today that American battlefield deaths have passed the 45,000 mark in a decade of fighting in Vietnam.

The command said 45 U.S. servicemen were killed in action last week to raise the war total to 45,019 as of midnight Saturday.

The command also reported 518 Americans were wounded last week to bring to 298,289 that toal since Jan. 1, 1961.

Last week's 45 combat deaths were nine less than the previous week but the 418 wounded more than doubled the 195 reported for the week earlier.

'Mame' Audience Pleaser

First Nighters See Difficult Musical

A difficult musical was presented on the stage of the junior high school gymnasium last night to an appreciative audience. The staging was simple and the warmth, and effervescence of the cast came across the footlights to the audience in a fine way, particularly in the second act.

After a slow beginning, the tempo picked up and carried the audience along to a standing ovation at the conclusion of the play.

With difficult music, the chorus did a commendable job, with only a few weak spots. A bouquet goes to Laretha Harris, who provided the piano accompaniement and to Mike Marshall on bass.

Dennis Casey and Trent Joyce are to be complimented for their performance as Young Patrick and Peter respectively.

Both young men, in their first Little Theatre plays, came across like pros.

The principals were fine in their roles and it was good to see new talent making itself known to Sikeston Little Theatre goers in the persons of Paul Carter and Betty Harris.

It was exceptionally good to see the fine talents of Peggy Ziegenhorn, Sandy York, Buddy Clayton and Francis Schumacher, all of whom have delighted Little Theatre audiences in past performances, and continues to do so tonight.

Also, Ricky Venson presented a fine characterization of Ito the Japanese house boy, and Lyman Dale as the staid Dwight Babcock was believable.

To Joel Allen as the Older Patrick goes a special bouquet. A great job of acting and singing was presented by this youngman last evening. Joel proved that his talents lie not only backstage, but on stage as well.

Hope Terrell did a fine job as Mame's best friend Vera -- particularly in the second act when both Mame and Vera sang "Bosom Buddies".

Miss Agnes Gooch, in the person of Carole Sue Clayton literally stole the show last evening with her performance as Mame's secretary who finds that one can "live, live, live," a little too much. Her performance was a show stopper in several scenes.

And Mame, portrayed by Patsy Mitchell. Really what can anyone say about Patsy. She has delighted Little Theatre members in almost every musical presented by SLT ... and I can assure you that last evening was no exception. Patsy was a joy to behold, particularly in the second act, as she played the hirarious role of Mame Dennis Burnside.

Looking Back of the chorus.

We are indebted to Jim Wenneker for such able and imaginitive direction of this musical.

As far as this critic is concerned, for a joyous and nostalgic romp through yesteryear with a wacky, wonderful and warm Mame ... go see Little Theatre's production of MAME tonight and tomorrow night at 8 p.m. - Joe Black

All in all, I would say that the best roles last night were done by Patsy Mitchell, Joel Allen, and Carole Clayton. Everyone worked hard and deserves a round of applause. A special thanks to Vivian and Roselie Boyer for their direction

There's nothing like a live wire on the staff to make the boss blow a fuse.

Danforth Rules Aid to Nonpublic Schools Legal

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth has held that a bill the House killed Tuesday does not violate the Missouri Constitution.

The measure would have provided state aid to nonpublic schools through the procedure of buying secular education. After a stormy argument the House killed the bill on a 71-86 vote, giving it 11 less affirmative votes than needed for House passage.

It was not known immediately whether the attorney general's opinion might prompt an attempt to reconsider the bill. Sponsors have until Monday to do so.

Danforth said he was not ruling whether the bill violated the U.S. Constitution but confirmed his legal opinion to the state constitution.

He said it was not a payment in behalf of a religious group and "no grant or gift is involved when in exchange for an amount of money children of the state entitled to a free public education receive secular educational services."

Many efforts have been made over the years to find some constitutional means of helping finance the education provided Missouri school children who attend private or parochial schools. All have failed on the argument that it would be in violation of the constitutional separation of church and state.

Rep. James F. Conway, DSt. Louis, said he would probably "make an attempt Monday" to have the bill reconsidered because "I feel it has the votes to go.

Conway said a number of supporters of the measure were absent Tuesday when the bill was defeated and that he has added still more "marginal" support.

"This proposal is a very important question and one which must be resolved," Conway said. "Rural areas are not appreciably affected, but it is very important to urban areas where one of four children attend nonpublic schools."

He said today he could count 84 votes for the measure, but preferred more assurance before bringing the bill up for reconsideration in light of the attorney general's opinion.

Book Review

THREE WHO DARED
by Tom Cohen
(A Camelot Book ZV180/.75/128pp.)

The Three Who Dared of Tom Cohen's true story are three young Northerners--two white and one black--who went south to engage in the fight for freedom during the early stages of the civil rights movement. Deeply committed to the struggled for justice and equality which grew out of the late 1950's and 1960's, these young men of quite different backgrounds--a lawyer, a would-be playwright, a college dropout--put their principles to work in teaching legal rights, history and skills to Southern Negroes.

THREE WHO DARED recounts the obstacle that the three had to overcome, their sacrifices, their accomplishments, and their enduring faith in the civil rights movement. Called a "compelling documentary" by Saturday Review, THREE WHO DARED makes its first appearance in paperback in a Camelot edition on March 20th.

-That's The Law

Host Not Liable For Drunk Guest

By Jack Strauss,LL.B.

Mr. & Mrs. Jones invited Hondo to the wedding reception of their daughter. At the gala affair, however, Hondo apparently tried to drink Canada dry because by the time he left, he was reeling pretty good. In fact, he managed to drive only three blocks before the inevitable occurred. He barrelled head-on into the rear of Mabel's automobile.

Crawling turtle-like out of the wreckage, groggy Mabel not only sued Hondo for her injuries, but she sued Mr. Jones as well.

"There'd been no accident," she complained in court, "except for the fact that Mr. Jones permitted Hondo to get so tanked up. Having supplied him with so much booze, he's the one who should really be held responsible for the consequences."

"That's absurd," responded Mr. Jones. "A wedding is a celebration. And, if a guest celebrates too much, it's not the fault of the host. Riding herd on overimbibing guests just isn't his responsibility."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold Mr. Jones liable for the accident of his boozing guest?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that private individuals are not liable for the actions of their social guests who overindulge in the liquid hospitality provided at a private home or private parties.

(Based upon a 1967 Michigan Court of Appeals Decision).

Q—On what is Archibald MacLeish's drama "J.B." based?

A—This poetic drama is a parable of our times based on the Bible story of Job.

Q—What is the longest obituary on record?

A—That of Thomas Edison occupied 4½ pages in the New York Times of the day after his death, in 1931.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, April 30, the 120th day of 1971. There are 245 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1789, George Washington inaugurated in New York as the first president of the United States.

On this date:

In 1798, the U.S. Navy Department was created by an act of Congress.

In 1803, the United States made the Louisiana Purchase from France, more than doubling the nation's size.

In 1812, Louisiana was admitted into the Union as the 18th state.

In 1900, engineer Casey Jones was killed in a train wreck at Vaughan, Miss.

In 1945, the Soviets announced that their flag flew over the ruins of the Reichstag in Berlin.

Ten years ago: U.S. citizens in Cuba were advised by Washington to leave the island.

Five years ago: There were May Day peace demonstrations in Saigon.

One year ago: U.S. combat troops were sent into Cambodia to drive Communists from their staging zone.

Adopted Year Later

Clayton
Man of Year

R. D. Clayton, Realtor and lifelong Scott county resident, last night was named Man of the Year. The presentation was during the 21st annual Chamber of Commerce banquet.

In making the presentation, Master of Ceremonies Sam Harbin said of Clayton:

"He has consistently devoted time and effort to any program that was beneficial to Sikeston. He is a charter member of the Medallion club, Southeast Missouri Council of the Boy Scouts, and is responsible for Clayton Addition and Clayton East Acres in Miner as well as Garden of Memories cemetery and Clayton Heights Addition.

"He is a good man. He is good to his family, to his friends and to our city."

Clayton was instrumental in getting Malone and Hyde and the Moore Company of Missouri to locate in Sikeston. He has served on the Sikeston Industrial Development Corporation and is a director of the Chamber of Commerce.

Clayton was a livestock dealer until World War II, dealing in mules. Prior to the end of the war, he began selling in real estate. He has represented the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company 26 years and has been named an Arkansas Traveler, Missouri and Kentucky honorary colonel.

Retiring Chamber President Don Bohannon told the crowd that the past year was one of "action and achievement."

"We have acquired a new depth and earnestness in the past year and have continued a strong economy while the nation has experienced a poor economy," he said.

Bohannon cited the development of National Lock, Thompson Culvert, Caproco expansion, Air Illinois passenger service and Kingsway Plaza as major accomplishments during his term.

"There are some accomplishments however, that you can't put your finger on. Sikeston has become the strongest trading area in Southeast Missouri and is on the verge of big cityness," he said.

Newly elected chamber president Clem Beal said that "with the talent Sikeston has, if we combine our efforts, we can do anything we want."

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes spoke on revenue sharing, Vietnam and the lagging economy:

"I am persuaded that 1972 will be a year when Americans will vote their pocketbooks. More than anything else they are worried about money—about what public officials call 'economic conditions'.

"Missouri, like most states, has been in a period of severe financial crisis. The three major costs of state government—health, education and welfare—have been rising at a rate faster than the normal growth of tax revenue. Operating without a general tax increase since 1963, our state finally faced with no choice but to seek additional revenue. I proposed changes in the income tax since it is the most equitable source of taxation."

Hearnes said the financial crisis will shape public reaction in months to come.

"While we have high unemployment and continuing inflation, voters will be thinking first and foremost about money," he said.

"If that message has not yet been heard by some of our national leaders, then now is the time to make it clear. The people are looking for action to halt rising prices, to obtain tax relief, and to reduce unemployment. Whether they are answered with positive action or the lack of it, that is the issue which will have the greatest effect upon the votes they cast."

Hearnes said he was not a candidate for vice president and said he did believe a third term for governor would be approved.

An audience of nearly 300 attended the banquet meeting at the fieldhouse.

Nixon Defends Vietnam Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — While hinting that release of American prisoners might hasten complete U.S. pullout from Vietnam, President Nixon says he and others in government will not be intimidated by demonstrators' cries of "withdraw now."

Holding his first television-radio news conference in eight weeks, Nixon argued anew Thursday night that his gradual withdrawal policy will prove wisest in the long run.

But he did not dismiss the multiple antiwar protests that have become a daily fact of life here. He said:

"It doesn't mean that we are not going to listen to those who come peacefully, but those who come and break the law will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

Discussing tentative and mutual moves toward improved relations between the United States and mainland China, Nixon struck a cautionary note:

"I think that some of the speculation that has occurred in recent weeks since the visit of the table-tennis team to Peking has not been useful ... Progress is not helped in this very sensitive area by speculation that goes beyond what the progress might achieve."

TOKYO (AP) — When Japan signed her first postwar trade pact with the Soviet Union in 1957, commerce between the two nations for that year totaled $9 million. Twelve years later, it has soared to $909 million.

The rapid growth of economic exchange prompted M.V. Gubanov, chief of the Soviet trade delegation in Tokyo, to predict eight years ago that Russian-Japanese trade would reach $1 billion a year "in the near future."

The prediction was made as the Russians began overtures to Tokyo to participate in Soviet projects to develop the vast untapped mineral, timber and oil resources of sparsely populated Siberia.

Moscow proposed that Japan supply the machinery and other equipment and technical knowledge, while the Soviet Union would pay with products developed by the joint project.

Communist China accused the Russians of "throwing the door wide open for Japanese monopoly capital to plunder the natural resources of Siberia and the Soviet Far East."

The U.S. Jesuit publication America has suggested that the Russians might be seeking Japanese help in developing Siberia in order to keep the Chinese out.

The magazine said the proposed agreement "makes sense for Japan because of the growing need for new sources of raw materials to feed the capacious maw of a constantly expanding industry."

Geographically, Siberia is within easy reach of Japan, with only the Sea of Japan separating them.

Ryan Bid Low

Bids on the remodeling of the old First Baptist Church were opened yesterday. The church will house the Sikeston Activities Center.

Apparent low bidder was Ryan Construction with a bid of $156,000. This was $36,000 higher than cost estimates. All bids were taken under advisement by the activities center board members.

No Tax Increase

$87,165 City Budget Rise

The city council in a noon meeting yesterday approved the city budget for fiscal 1971-1972 beginning tomorrow. The new budget is an increase of $87,165 over last year.

Next year's budget is $1,044,155.

City manager Raymert Miller said there were "no major changes" in the figures for the coming year. He said that substantial funds were allotted in the budget for improvements to the old post office. The building will house the city administration building and the police department when completed.

The rate of taxation of $1.74 per $100 assessed valuation will remain the same as last year.

The largest expenditure in the new budget is for salaries and wages to city employes. This accounts for $348,455.

City employes will receive a 5.5 per cent pay increase and fringe benefits including one half cost of hospitalization insurance, paid by city, uniform allowance for policemen and firemen and retirement benefits.

Miller said that the budget

Choirs to Sing

Pop Tunes at High School

The high school concert choirs and The Moderne Chorale, will present a festival of popular music Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the high school cafetorium.

Accompanists will be Debbie Launius, Laretha Harris, and Bonnie Harris. Mrs. Patti Brennan, student teacher of Gordon Beaver and Beaver will direct the choirs.

Each choir and The Moderne Chorale will present popular, novelty, and Broadway musical arrangements such as "Oliver", "On A Clear Day," "Mr. President," "West-Side Story," "Roar Of The Greasepaint," and "The Appletree."

Solos and small ensembles will be added attractions. The girls' sextet, composed of Valerie Chandler, Jo Ann Williamson, Claudia Mulcahy, Barbara O'Guinn, Julie Harbin, and Sondra Stewart, will sing the theme from "Love Story" and a novelty number, "Gossip Is Fun." Larry Johnson will do a vocal solo, "Tracks Of My Tears," and accompanied by Leroy Hare.

Linda Litchford, Jo Ann Williamson and Sondra Stewart will sing solos in a choir presentation of "Who Will Buy", from "Oliver." Connie Johnson, Maida Harrington, Castella Gwin, and Wanda Gardner will present "Everybody," accompanied by Hare. Joel Allen will narrate his version of "Rindercella."

Stan McGill, David Evans, Alan McClellan, Larry Johnson, and Steve Waters will sing solos during the Moderne Chorale's "Hallelujah." The boys' quartet will sing "Maria" from "West Side Story." Members are McGill, Johnson, Joe Layton, and Steve Nickell. Mrs. Brennan will sing two numbers.

Darrell Barksdale will sing "Knock Three Times," and accompany himself on the guitar. A trio composed of Waters, Chuck Hanna and Alan McClellan, will present "The Losing End," and "My Sweet Lord." McClellan will sing "Put Your Hand In The Hand."

GOODWILL WEEK

Observance of National Goodwill Week this year, which takes place between May 2 and 8, holds more than usual significance. The nationwide self-help program of Goodwill Industries providing training and employment for the handicapped is a particularly fitting and unique illustration of the manner in which it is possible for a worthwhile endeavor to stand on its own feet through the voluntary actions and support of the American people.

The far-flung operations of Goodwill Industries are kept going by the generosity of those among us who provide the organization with the substance of its existence -- used clothes to be mended, as well as used toys, furniture and other objects that, with repair, may be sold for revenue to perpetuate Goodwill work. The repairing is done by handicapped persons employed by Goodwill. Beyond that, Goodwill Industries provide rehabilitation training and placement of handicapped persons in different industries that may have niches for them.

Over the years, countless thousands of handicapped have found new hope, jobs and economic independence through this outstanding organization. Goodwill Industries has demonstrated the capacity of the U. S. system to combine generosity with good business principles. At this time, as answers are being sought for a wide range of social problems, this holds a special significance for the entire nation.

IF YOU LISTEN . . . shhhh . . . listen . . . you may hear a very ominous background noise of rustling, chewing, grinding, whirring of May.

This is far different than the fun sounds associated with the month. These are the ominous sounds of thymore than 650,000 known insects with a population of over 3,000,000,000,000! In fact, a country acre may contain up to 30 million insects or about 10,000 per person! That is rather a frightening figure expecially when you think that everything we have thought of to control the insects ends up doing more damage to man. So just pass the flyswatter and enjoy the upcoming summer with all of your seen and unseen neighbors.

Kicking off the month of May is American Camping Week, Car Care Month, International Air Travel Month, Play-Your -Own- Harpsichord Month, Hearing and Speech Month, National Tavern Month, Senior Citizens Month, Radio Month for starters.

May 1 — Law Day

May 2 — Mother-In-Law Day, National Be Kind to Animals Week, National Goodwill Week

May 8 — Let's Go Fishing Week

May 9 — Mother's Day, National Hospital Week begins as does National Public Works Week

May 10 — National Salvation Army Week

May 15 — Armed Forces Day

May 20 — International Pickle Week

May 23 — Realtor Week

May 29 — Indianapolis 500 Mile Race

May 30/31 — Memorial Day.

Then comes the half-way mark month: June and the Fight the Filthy Fly month, Play Golf week, Flag day and Root Beer week.

BASIC FACTS FOR BETTER LIVING

Our guest editorial is taken from the writings of Kenneth Clark. Mistakes are often made on the basic level, so that is where Mr. Clark would have us start correcting the errors. But let him tell you in his own words:

I believe that order is better than chaos, creation better than destruction. I prefer gentleness to violence, forgiveness to vendetta. On the whole I think that knowledge is preferable to ignorance, and I am sure that human symphathy is more valuable than ideology. I believe that in spite of the recent triumphs of science, men haven't changed much in the last two thousand years.

I also hold one or two beliefs that are more difficult to put shortly. For example, I believe in courtesy the ritual by which we avoid hurting other people's feelings by satisfying our own egos. And I think we should remember that we are part of a great whole, which for convenience we call nature. All living things are our brothers and sisters. Above all, I believe in the God-given genius of certain individuals, and I value a society that makes their existence possible.

SEX EDUCATION

The school year moves on, and as it does the news stories appear from various and sundry places throughout the United States, reporting raging conflict over the issue of "sex education in the schools."

There is, we believe, a middle ground whereby rational people can come to agreement.

Sex education is not wrong in itself. It is better to explain the birth of kittens than to talk about the stork. But unless you relate sex to birth, and unless you relate the birth of a child to its Creator, you are mired in the mud at the animal level. Animals have instincts to guide their actions. There is no such thing as a "bad" dog from the moral point of view. But children must learn to do what is right by being taught right from wrong, and they must be educated in such a way that they will try to do what is right. The whole goal in education, from a moral point of view, is to see that the child does what he ought to do, until he finally wants to do what he ought to do.

Unfortunately, some of the "sex education" material offered to schools proposes to leave out all morality. This, of course, must be condemned. Many colleges, for example, have courses having to do with the study of crime. But there is a big difference between the study of criminology in order to fight crime — and the studying of the methods of crime in order to be a successful criminal.

Children who are taught about sex by their parents are the lucky ones. No one is better able to judge the need, the timing, or the opportunity better than one's own parents. No one will do so with more tender solicitude, with more loving care, with more Christian modesty, or with great tact. There is, of course, the rare exception of the parent who is not good and does not have the best interests of the child in mind — but that is also true of teachers in the classroom. A few words from parents about sex to each individual child, at the right times, are worth more than all the "sex lectures" in the world.

INCIDENT AT KENT STATE

Just one year ago April 30, President Nixon announced a major U. S. troop offensive into Cambodia. The following day the President attended a Pentagon briefing on the Cambodian developments. Speaking informally with civilian employees there, Nixon contrasted the "bums ... blowing up the campuses" with the "kids" fighting the war in Vietnam. On May 4, 29 Ohio National Guardsmen fired a total of 54 shots into a crowd of students participating in or watching a demonstration against the war in Indochina, killing four students and wounding nine others.

The events at Kent State will have not been sorted out to everyone's satisfaction, and never will be. Radical student leaders blamed President Nixon for "baiting" the National Guard into firing on students with his "bums" remark. To the Guardsmen, the shootings were a matter of self-defense after rocks were thrown. In the angry aftermath of Kent State, many campuses closed down as part of an antiwar and anti-Administration strike.

President Nixon appointed a Commission on Campus Unrest to probe the Kent State affair and other violence. It reported last Oct. 1 that "indiscriminate firing" by the National Guardsmen at Kent was "unnecessary, unwarranted and inexcusable." But it also said that "violent and criminal actions" by students during four days of events that led to the shooting contributed to the tragedy. On Oct. 16, a special state grand jury in Ravenna, Ohio, indicated 25 persons -- none of them Guardsmen -- on charges growing out of the May disturbances at Kent State. A U.S. District Court later ruled the grand jury report illegal, and the matter presently is before the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

At Kent State, a campus committee has scheduled memorial observances May 1-4. Only Kent Students with ID cards will be let into indoor events. But activists plan demonstrations and observances on other college campuses for May 4-5. Much of the angry emotion of a year ago has drained away. The gunshots in Ohio seem to have turned the college protesters inward, away from confrontation politics. What's left are bitter memories of the day when a generation in conflict learned the price of protest.

NEW YORK (AP) — If I ever learn to drive it won't be so that I can get PLACES. It will be so that I can get THINGS.

Trying to pay for something by check when you don't have a driver's license for identification is slightly more difficult than boarding an airplane with a rifle slung over one shoulder, a knife stuck through your belt and a button reading "I am a skyjacker" prominently displayed on your lapel.

Although I pay my income tax to the last penny, don't litter and absolutely never cross the street on red, without that driver's license I'm a criminal in the eyes of the cashier.

I have a Social Security number, a Blue Cross number, an employe identification number, a library card number, a checking account number, a savings account number and enough other sets of digits that belong exclusively to me to outfit a computer for life. Still, when it comes to cashing checks, I lack the one number sequence that really counts.

I haven't yet ascertained the correlation between being able to maneuver a car through traffic and living an upright life. But somehow possessing a driver's license puts you in a class with Boy Scouts in the trustworthy, honest and thrifty department. Not being able to drive automatically makes you suspect.

This being the case, I usually endeavor to make my purchases with cash, a transaction that does not require a knowledge of the rules of the road. However, on a recent occasion I found just the clock I'd been looking for in a department store and decided to make it mine via the check-writing routine. Ahead of me in the line, clutching some hi-fi equipment, was a definitely criminal typefrayed pants, dirty shirt, droopy mustache and uncombed hair.

"Look at those shifty eyes," I said to myself. "If they let him get by with a check I'll have no problem." After all, I thought smugly, I was wearing my best suit and looked affluent enough to have the price of the clock in my checking account.

The potential convict in front of me was processed as quickly as you could say, "May I see your driver's license, please?" and then it was my turn.

Although I produced any number of affidavits attesting to the fact that I was I, none was acceptable. I was sent up to the credit office where I was lengthily interrogated and, after having my picture taken I was allowed to quit the premises with the clock leaving behind what they obviously thought was a worthless check.

Next time I'll take my husband along to write the checks. He hates to go shopping but he'd hate even more to teach me to drive.

Hal Boyle is on vacation.

H.L. Hunt Says

THE DEMOCRATS
AND WELFARE

Governor Ronald Reagan of California has found that the public welfare program in his state, indeed the whole nation, is one of the biggest problems a government leader has to face today. This is not only true now but it has been for many years. Many people who should be gainfully employed are on the public dole, living on the taxpayer's money which has been cut thin by inflation.

The leaders of both parties of this nation have a golden opportunity to pick up strength by looking theissue of welfare squarely in the face and then coming forth with a strong policy of correcting the evil. The creation of new bureaucracies is not what is needed, but that is what many liberals advocate.

One positive attack party leaders should advocate is on the criminal swindles that have been perpetrated by some recipients of welfare checks. If a person unlawfully on the dole fears prosecution and jail time, he just may go out and find a job. Governor Reagan, a Republican, has promised action against offenders, and the Democrats ought to take a lesson from him. It would be a healthy step for the entire nation.

The profit-motive system is the best guarantee of jobs and a sound economy. Constructive, well-defined political leadership inspires private industry, and both our political parties should offer such leadership. The pleadings of the liberals for guaranteed income, rent subsidies and indiscriminate relief pay-outs are nonsense and undermining. All tend to sap our strength. We need to produce by work. Statesmen ought to advocate this, not a premium on laziness. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK: -- Everybody talks about it. Few know anything about it. Yet it could pay thousands of bright young objective chaps anywhere from $250 to $500 a day. And it could wipe out costly strikes be they stoppages of crime fighters, cops, fire fighters, auto workers, steel mill hands or garbage collectors.

"It" is arbitration -- which depends on arbitrators, of which there are mighty few. There are no more than 500 who work full time throughout the land -- but about the same 100 always are in demand. Like good bakers, tailors and chefs, they are a vanishing breed. For example:

The other day the black mayor of rotting Neward, N.J., Kenneth Gibson, announced the end of the violent, costly 11-week-old teachers strike, the longest in history. In its fifth week, three union leaders were sentenced to six months in jail and the union was fined $50,000 for violating an anti-strike injunction. Later, 347 teachers were suspended. And a hundred or so were barred by parents from returning.

Basic in the strike is the fight over the union's demand for the retention of an arbitration clause -- the submission of grievances to special arbitrators. After the settlement, Mayor Gibson announced that future arbitrators would have to be members of the National Academy of Arbitrators and reside in New Jersey. A quick check with the American Arbitration Association (AAA) here disclosed there were exactly seven such men in the state. One of them is the eminent David Cole of Paterson, former director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. He also is a former adviser to presidents. He hasn't much time to breathe, he's so much in demand. So he's not likely to sit in on the violent Newark racial duel.

This leaves exactly six eligibles. They're not going to rush into the volcanic social violence of Newark either.

Where are the other arbitrators? They are a disappearing breed. Most of them were trained during the compulsory arbitration days of World War II. There are some 2,000 on the official AAA and Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service panels. But most of these are whilom Solomons who work on a case or two. The 500 are full-time -- and about 100 are truly experienced and fully desired by both labor and management.

So grievances pile up in plants for lack of arbitrators. So do resentments. Cases idle three to six months before they are heard. It's all very expensive too.

Against this uptight economic panorama, Don Straus, president of the AAA, and the association's 10-member Labor-Management Advisory Committee have been modeling a plan for voluntary arbitration not only of grievances -- but of major collective bargaining contracts, of which some 1,200 have 1971 expiration dates.

Mr. Straus and some of the nation's most influential labor chiefs, such as AFL-CIO President George Meany who appointed the five union leaders to the advisory committee, and Steelworkers chief I.W. "Abe" Abel, a committee member, have been vitally interested. They are opposed to long costly strikes. They watched the GM walkout last year with horrified fascination. It cost the United Auto Workers (UAW) close to $200 million. The union had to hock its national headquarters and its $20 million Black Lake, Mich., marble-studded think tank to the Teamsters.

Now the Steelworkers are preparing to spend their $50 million strike fund on an August strike against the basic steel industry. And Joe Beirne's Communication Workers Union (CWA) has picked the Chesapeake and Potomac Phone Company as the target for their first walkout in the drive for a 25 per cent wage increase. And one CWA Local, 1101, in a recent strike was fined $1.7 million.

Add the $200 million cost of the auto workers strike -- which left the union almost bankrupt -- to the coming costs right on through the possible Longshoremen's strikes along all U.S. coasts, including the Great Lakes, and other walkouts and it is probable that the unions will spend more than half a billion dollars of their central treasuries this year on walkouts. These will be mighty costly picket lines.

So Mr. Straus' AAA has called meetings of the Labor-Management Advisory Committee and its subcommittee that is studying ways to improve collective bargaining. They will meet June 17 to discuss their findings and then present their report to the full committee June 18.

This small subcommittee is made up of Dave Cole and Dave Morse, former Director General of the International Labor Organization, which won the Nobel Peace Prize under his guidance. Two mighty erudite and gracious fellows after whom the U.S. State Dept. could well model its people.

Decades from now some labor historian will say that these sessions were the beginning of a strikeless society. But why wait? Labor's elder statesmen have been talking quietly about moving towards voluntary arbitration of contracts.

But they shy from any public discussion. They fear their militant, strike-happy rank and file. Mention arbitration to Abe Abel and you'd think this laconic fellow, head of the AFL-CIO's Economic Committee as well as the Steel Union, had just been shown a superimposed candid shot of himself cavorting with Elizabeth Taylor or Spiro Agnew.

So Abe Abel, like so many others who know they'll come out of a long costly strike with little more than they could have gotten at the beginning (as in the UAW case), work themselves into a corner and inevitable picket lines.

But there is hope. Meany, a most un-utopian fellow, has said strikes really are futile -- though no labor chief will surrender his union's right to call one. Labor has become middle class in the past 15 years. It can't really afford, nor does it need, to be radical any longer. It has a greater stake in the American system. Union members have obligations which are costly -- mortgages, car installments, ec. -- so strikes are less desirable.

He believes that "more and more people in the trade union movement -- I mean at the highest levels -- are thinking of other ways to advance without the use of the strike method...In what I would call some of the best unions, our real solid unions, they are now thinking and talking about voluntary arbitration openly."

That's what the man said. And that's what is being explored in the next few weeks. But now is the time to develop the young arbitrators. It will be a good profession soon.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON--Our stories about mismanagement and malfeasance in the Army's worldwide, $2.5 billion-a-year commissary system has stimulated a Justice Department investigation.

Government sleuths, in search of evidence to present to a grand jury, have poked around mainly in Washington. We suggest they also look into the garbage pits and sanitary fills of Europe.

They will find that furtive commissary officials have tried to cover up their buying blunders by dumping unsold food into the garbage. They have disposed of truckloads of frozen goodies and pizza pies that had spoiled in commissary freezers.

An Army document in our possession, for example, tells about how the Army bought enough Round-the-Clock Apple Snack to satisfy its commissary customers in Europe for three years and enough Round-the-Clock Berry Snack to last for five years. Yet these frozen delectables have a freezer life of only six months.

The commissary officials, in the deepest of secrecy, trucked tens of thousands of apple and berry snack to German sanitary fills, thereby enriching the soil at 37 cents a serving.

A three-year supply of pizza pies, which also became tainted after six months in commissary freezers, was converted similarly into German fertilizer.

--TOO MUCH CORN--

On another buying spree, commissary officials bought 95,000 cans of Del Monte white cream corn. This was enough to last 30 months, 18 months longer than the cans should be kept on the shelves. To get rid of them, the commissaries reduced the price from 19 to 11 cents per can and sold them off at a loss. We have been unable to confirm reports that some cans were simply thrown away.

We have traced some of these wild purchases back to Col. James McDowell, who then headed the purchasing board for the European Commissary system. Far from being censured for his waste, however, he has now been given an even more important commissary job. He is now deputy to Maj. Gen. John McLaughlin, who runs the quartermaster center at Fort Lee, Va.

My associate Les Whitten reached the extravagant colonel at Fort Lee and asked why he bought so much food that had to be plowed under. He snapped, "No comment," to all questions.

Whitten also tried to question him about reports that he showed unusual favoritism for Rockingham Chicken. After certain Rockinham products were declared unsanitary by government inspectors, the Pentagon gave European commissaries the option of buying other brands.

McDowell accepted a Rockingham proposal to continue stocking its products in different packages which had not been found unsanitary. The end result, however, was that the goods were unpopular with military housewives.

But the Justice Department, if it really wants to get to the bottom of the commissary scandals, should investigate the Defense Supply Association. This is the military food lobby which has been dictating Pentagon commissary policy. The Pentagon's top logistics officers, who have jurisdiction over the commissary system, hold honorary positions in the association.

--WAR CRIMINAL--

The Dow Chemical Company, already the bane of pacifists for trafficking in napalm, has invited a convicted Nazi war criminal to address an employee seminar next month.

The guest, Dr. Otto Ambros, was one of the technicians in charge of developing advanced poisonous gases for Hitler's Reich. He was a director of the I.G. Farben Chemical Company's plant at Auschwitz.

The specific gases he helped develop were not used to kill prisoners at Auschwitz. However, the gas used to exterminate Jews was also developed by his company, and testimony of his war crimes trial at Nuremberg revealed that he was fully aware of this.

Moreover, the Farben plant he headed used thousands of Auschwitz prisoners as slave labor on construction projects. An estimated 25,000 prisoners, brutally overworked, died at the Farben plant.

Ambros was formally charged with "slavery and mass murder." He was convicted and sentenced to eight years in jail. "The use of concentration camp labor and forced foreign workers at Auschwitz with the initiative displayed by the officials of Farben in the procurement and utilization of such labor, is a crime against humanity," said the Nuremberg court's opinion.

E.N. Brandt, a spokesman for Dow, said Ambros had been invited to discuss "the German chemical industry" at Dow headquarters in Midland, Mich., on May 12. Brandt said he understood Ambros had obtained the necessary clearance and was coming.

It is not surprising that Dow should be friendly with Dr. Ambros, for the company was found guilty during the war of operating an international magnesium cartel with Farben and the Aluminum Company of America.

State Department officials questioned here said they had heard nothing of any effort by Ambros to obtain a visa. It was understood, however, that he had made the request through the U.S. consulate in Stuttgart, Germany, and that word of it might not have reached Washington.

Hair and Teeth Aren't the Only Reasons to Love a Person

Dear Ann Landers: I felt sorry for the woman who married her husband for his hair and teeth. She wrote that a gum condition is threatening his teeth and his hair is falling out. The woman confessed, "I know it isn't right, but I'm losing interest in him and I don't know what to do about it."

My husband always joked about having fallen in love with MY hair and teeth. In my youth, everyone remarked on my beautiful, auburn mane. My husband was so proud of it he wouldn't let me wear a hat -- or even a head scarf on windy days. My teeth were unusually beautiful. I once won a prize for the prettiest smile. A toothpaste company asked me to be a model.

Ten years ago I was in an automobile accident -- head-on collision with a drunk driver on a one-way street. My front teeth were knocked out and I sustained a head injury. They had to shave my head to operate. My hair grew back thin and scraggly -- a mousey brown. Lucky for me my husband saw something in me worth staying around for. I hope the woman will also find compensatory virtues when her husband's hair and teeth go. ---Sympatico.

Dear Sym: I'm with you. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: It's a standing joke that physicians have illegible handwriting. To those of us who must decipher it, it's no laughing matter. I speak for pharmacists, nurses, hospital employes, etc. It's time-consuming as well as nerve-wracking to figure out where it's "o" or "a", "r" or "e", "i" or "y", "2" or "3", "7" or "9". More than once I've given up in despair and spent hours locating a doctor to check out his instructions.

Your column has a high readership among doctors, Ann. Please tell them. ---Taylorville.

Dear Tayl: I'll try: Now hear this, all docs who have rotten handwriting -- which includes most of you: Please take an extra minute to write prescriptions and instructions legibly. Thanks very much, ---on behalf of those who must read your handwriting, and those whose lives depend on it.

Dear Ann Landers: We hear a great deal about the bad manners of the young. What about the bad manners of the elderly folks past 70? A relative recently decided to make her home with us. She is a semi-invalid, but mentally alert, sharp-eyed with a tongue to match.

We help her in and out of the shower. We serve her meals on a tray when she prefers not to come to the table. We drive her wherever she wishes to go. In short, we wait on her hand and foot. We do it because we want to, not so she will thank us, but it would be nice if she'd say "Thank you" -- just once.

When she offers our grandchildren a cookie or a piece of candy she always snaps, "Now what do you say?" Interesting how she insists on being thanked for every little thing, but she never thanks anyone. What do you suggest we say or do? --Had It In Seattle.

Dear Had: Say and do nothing. It's awfully hard to train a person past 70. Some elderly folks figure they are entitled to service and respect merely because they have lived a long time -- and they are. Elderly people often develop aches and pains and it's a struggle for them to keep going. Naturally they aren't always in a jolly mood -- in fact at times they are sour and crotchey.

So continue to be helpful and kind and don't expect to be thanked. Do it because you want to.

Alcohol is no shortcut to social success. If you think you have to drink to be accepted by your friends, get the facts. Read "Booze And You -- For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Pitching Rules Sub-District

Today's sub-district baseball championship game at VFW stadium matching Sikeston and Kelly at 3 p.m. has a little more on the line than just a berth in the state tournament playoffs.

It will also decide the winner of the Scott County mythical baseball championship, which has in years past been dominated by the Sikeston Bulldogs.

The SHS diamond crew are defending champs and are favored in the encounter with hard-throwing Don Miller expected to be on the mount.

In Thursday's semi-finals, both the Hawks and Bulldogs had to rely on their pitching as SHS eliminated Oran 2-0 behind the three-hit hurling of Bob Blankenship and Kelly got behind the three-hit pitching of Jeff "Jethro" Jackson to beat Lilbourn, 4-3.

Oran's Matt LeGrand held the big SHS sticks silent through four inning, before they got on the scoreborad, connecting for its only hits (2) of the game and scoring what proved to be the winning tally.

The Bulldogs added an insurance tally in the sixth as John Vines scored after reaching second on a throwing error and going to third on David Craig's sacrafice to left. He scored on an other Oran miscue.

Kelly rallied from a 2-0 deficit in the second inning, scoring three runs after Lilbourn opened the game with a pair and handed lefthander, Pat McClarty the defeat.

The Hawks broke a 3-3 deadlock after Lilbourn tied the game with a single run in the fourth, scoring in the sixth.

Mike Enderle paced the Hawks batsmen with two safties, including a double.

Mets Sweep Series

The Mets, 1969 world champions, buzzed in with a 7-7 record and left with an 11-7 mark after flattening the St. Louis Cardinals again Thursday 7-0.

During the series their bats rang out 48 hits and produced 30 runs while their pitching was choking off the Cards with only four runs.

Ahead of the series finale, Hodges' pitchers had combined a 2.31 earned run average and it dipped more on a combined three-hitter by Nolan Ryan and Danny Frisella.

"I'd have to rate his performance exceptional," said Hodges after Ryan, a 6-foot-2 righthander, set the Cardinals down on two singles through six innings.

He walked eight Cardinals and struck out five before Danny Frisella mopped up by retiring nine of the 10 batters he faced.

"I'd say what Ryan did was exceptional," Hodges said, "because he came back after loading the bases and got a strikeout when he needed it in the sixth."

"I felt I knew what I was doing," said Ryan. "I was in and out with my fast ball instead of up and down."

The Cardinals' Joe Torre, whose 22-game hitting streak was snapped, said "I've never seen Ryan throw any harder."

Torre, who fell three games short of the National League record for a season-opening hitting streak, went 0-for-3 on a groundout, pop fly and strikeout.

Ryan (2-0) worked out of the Mets' only tough moment by fanning losing pitcher Jerry Reuss (2-3) with the bases loaded and the Mets cllinging to a 1-0 lead in the sixth.

An inning later Donn Clendenon's three-run homer was the big blow for the Mets.

"I don't want to get into a discussion of whether they should have pinch-hit for Ruess, but I'd rather face nine pitchers in their lineup than nine hitters," Hodges suggested.

Looking ahead Hodges said the Mets could be better than the '69 Cinderella team that won the world series.

"I think we're a better club right now than we have been," he said, "just because of experience alone. The last four days have been beautiful, that's for sure."

Bucks After Sweep

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks, a 3-year-old expansion team which spurted ahead with Lew Alcindor and solidified under Oscar Robertson, goes after the National Basketball Association championship tonight.

A victory over the shackled Baltimore Bullets would give the Bucks a four-game sweep, only the second in the 25-year history of the NBA and the first since the 1958-59 season.

Milwaukee has averaged only 102 points in the three previous games, yet decisions haven't been close.

Even the eternal optimism of Baltimore Coach Gene Shue seemed to have lost its snap.

"I've always felt a team has to have four wins before anything happens," Shue said, "and they only have three. There's only one place for us to go—up."

But the Bullets will be without the services again of AllStar forward Gus Johnson, who will be sidelined with ailing knees which are due for an operation next month.

Without Johnson, center Wes Unseld has been forced to do most of the rebounding for Baltimore. He has tried mightily, but at 6-7½ he is some eight inches shorter than Alcindor.

"Milwaukee has taken away our inside game completely," Shue said. "When we go in, they close up the lane and Alcindor has been blocking more shots than ever. They've played excellent defense, with a lot of good work on Earl — double teaming him and other things."

Shue said Baltimore executed its plays better in the third game than previously, "but we turned the ball over carelessly too much, and missed a lot of shots we should make."

In addition to three straight in the best-of-7 series, the Bucks whipped Baltimore four out of five during the regular season.

Two years ago, in their inaugural season, the Bucks finished with a 27-55 record and then drafted Alcindor.

With big Lew scoring at a 28.8-point average, Milwaukee improved to 56-26 the following year, and then obtained Robertson in a trade with Cincinnati after Oscar nixed one which would have sent him to Baltimore.

During the recent season, Milwaukee posted a 66-16 record, and has lost just twice in 13 playoff games.

Neelyville, Naylor Win

BROSELEY— Neelyville and Naylor are all that are left on the top bracket of the sub-district baseball tournament here as they both edged out opening game foes. Neelyville enjoyed a 13-4 bulge over Bloomfield. Winning pitcher was Jenkins and loser was Ballwin. Naylor downed Risco 7 to 2, winning pitcher was Ronnie Parrent.

Thursday the final series of first round games end as Puxico and Bernie battle at 1:00 p.m. and Doniphan and Twin Rivers meet at 3:00. The winners of these two games will advance to semi final action on May 3. The victor there will tangle with the upper bracket winner on the 6th of May for a berth in the District playoffs.

NCAA Ruling Brings Appeals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The NCAA ruling on junior college transfers cut a swath through Big Eight football camps in Missouri and Kansas Thursday and jerked some promising athletes out of spring practice.

Eleven football transfers were notified they could not complete spring training, nor could they even practice with the teams teams next year.

Coaches at Kansas, Kansas State and Missouri universities expressed grave concern over the athletic future of the players, and hope they would remain in school despite the surprise ruling.

At Kansas, Coach Don fambrough lost two starters, first string defensive end Eddie Sheats, a Hutchinson junior college star, and Mitch Sutton, first string defensive tackle. Also lost to the Jayhawks were second strijg linebacker Mike Gardner and reserve tackle Jerry Adams.

Kansas State loses Chuck Price, offensive tackle and a juco all-star, halfbacks Jerry Johnson and Norman Young, and Steve Eaton, defensive tackle.

The coaches were bitter over the matter, with Fambrought saying he felt there was "absolutely no logic" to the interpretation.

The latest NCAA guideline is that an athlete must either be (1) a junior college graduate, (2), have spent two years at a junior college and have 48 hours of transferable credits, or (3) transfer after one year with a minimum of 24 hours credit and a 2.5 grade point average.

More than 70 schools nationally are expected to lose athletes by the ruling.

"My main concern is for the players iinvolved," Fambrough said. "The silly thing is that they cannot even practice with us next year. It was really tough, having to tell the boys that they were out entirely for next year."

At Columbia, Onofrio said he would appeal the NCAA decision, saying he hoped for a "more lenient interpretation" by the governing body.

"I hope there might be some means of appealing the decision and I am personally committed to use every means to see this is done," he promised.

Dean Arthur W. Nebel, Missouri conference faculty representative, said he disagreed with the ruling. He said they "are complicated and confusing and they lend themselves to a difference of interpretation.

Coach Vince Gibson at K-State expressed surprise that his four players would be restricted from practice next year.

"If that's true, it's a horrible thing," Gibson told the Associated Press. "If they can't even practice, how can they be expected to be ready to play the following year. That's not fair at all."

Coach Gibson said if the rules had been clear, the students could have stayed at their junior colleges one more semester to help fulfill the eligibility requirements.

The Wildcat coach said the one bright factor was that the students involved could stay in school, and that the NCAA did not require their scholarships be lifted.

"The kids haven't done anything wrong," he added. "I just hate to see them punished."

Turkey Kill New Record

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)— The total kill in six days of Missouri's wild turkey season added up to 2,035 Tuesday, a record for modern times, the State Conservation Department reported.

A new record-sized bird was bagged by Bob Stephens of Salem, Mo. It tipped the scales at 33 pounds, 13 ounces.

Reward Offered

PARMA---A $25 reward is awaiting the skilled angler who hauls in a 20-pound catfish out of the Community lake.

More than 3,000 fish were added to the two year old man-made lake last week along with the big 20-pounder and the Lions club and Fire department, co-sponsors of the lake, have put up the award.

Floyd Cravens is the manager of the lake, which will be open seven days a week throughout the summer.

Gov. Wallace Congratulates Alabamians

ATLANTA (AP)--Henry Aaron said Thursday he received a telegram of congratulations for hitting his 600th career home run from Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

"I got a nice one from George and I'm mighty pleased he sent it," said the Atlanta Braves star, who is a native of Mobile, Ala.

The telegram read in part:

"Congratulations on hitting your 600th home run. All Alabamians are very proud of the baseball accomplishments of you and Willie Mays."

Mays was born in Westfield, Ala.

Puxico, Twin Rivers In Final

By BILL HARRISON

BROSELY--- Puxico and Twin Rivers advanced in the semi - finals of the Sub - District baseball tournament held here Thursday afternoon as Puxico whipped Bernie 6-4 in the first game and Twin Rivers edged Doniphan 13-12.

Puxico had to put together a last inning rally to overcome the Bernie Mules.

The Indians crossed the plate first by scoring one run in the top of the first inning. Bernie came right back in the bottom of the frame to tie 1-1. Neither team could score until the top of the fourth when the Indians took a 2-1 lead. The Mules erupted for four bip markers in the bottom of the fourth and held a 5-2 lead going into the top of the seventh.

Tom Turner capped a four run inning with a big three run homer to win the game for the Puxico team. Jack Hill, who was the winning pitcher, hit a homerun in the top of the first inning. Henson hit a four bagger in the top of the fourth for the Puxico.

Puxico will play Twin Rivers on May 3rd for the right to play for the championship of the tournament.

The second game of the afternoon turned out to be a wild affair as both teams scored in each inning but two.

Twin Rivers started the scoring with two runs in the top of the first. The Doniphan Dons came back to knot the score in the bottom of the second at 2-2.

Twin Rivers took a 6-3 by scoring two runs in each of the third and fourth innings and the Dons plating one in the fourth.

Doniphan came right back to push across four runs in the bottom of the fifth to take a 7-6 lead. Both teams scored two runs in the sixth and Doniphan led 9-8 going into the top of the seventh.

Loyd Merriman, who was the winning pitcher, hit a homerun in the seventh to help Twin River regain the lead and win the game. Doniphan tried to come back one more time but fell one run short as they could score but three runs.

Tom Huson hit a four bagger for the Dons in the seventh. Loyd Merriman, Potter, and Clark hit homers for Twin Rivers.

Drug Crisis Shocks Religious Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — In smuggling rose 88 per cent. the last year, arrests for drug Seizures of marijuana tripled. They multiplied 15 times in the case of cocaine, more than doubled for hashish. Local arrests of dope pushers and users soared across the United States.

This is part of the picture of rising drug traffic outlined by government officials last week before an extraordinary White House gathering of top-level leaders of the nation's religious bodies.

"At most, we have 10 years to prevent a social catastrophe, if it is not too late already," said John Ingersoll, director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, which has 1,000 agents ferreting out suppliers.

Myles J. Ambrose, Bureau of Customs commissioner, said the drug "cancer in our society" has spread with "frightening speed and intensity" among the young, in colleges, in businesses and the military.

"We have an epidemic on our hands that can produce an American disaster," he said. "We've lost more Americans to heroin than there are victims of the war."

The gathering involved a daylong presentation of facts, figures, drama and films, depicting the scope of drug abuse, expanding efforts of the government to combat it and appeals to the church leaders for help.

President Nixon, saying the "heart of the problem" lay in the human spirit and motivation, told the churchmen: "If there is an answer, you have it."

It was the first time the Nixon administration had met with the country's religious leadership, including top officials both of mainline and smaller denominations, Christian and Jewish.

"It is clear that on this issue we all have a responsibility, and it's something we can move together on in various ways," commented the Rev. Dr. A. Dale Fiers, of Indianapolis, chief executive of the Christian Church (Disciples).

The Rev. Dr. J.H. Jackson, of Chicago, president of a 5.5-million-member predominantly black denomination, the Baptist Convention of the U.S.A., said after hearing the reports of increasing drug abuse and its ravages:

"We've come to a crisis and an impasse. The government has recognized it as a moral problem and also the dynamism of religion and its responsibility for renewal in our culture and for restoring the lost values of the nation."

John C. Broger, director of the Armed Forces Office of Information, linked drugs to the rock-music culture, citing evidence from song lyrics, the youth underground and rock festival scenes.

"My personal conviction is that we are facing the worst crisis in 1,000 years," he said.

Dr. Bertram S. Brown, director of the National Institute of Mental Health services, said part of the solution is finding "meaningful alternatives for turning people on to life rather than a chemically induced haze."

He described damaging effects of various addictive drugs. As for marijuana, he said two more years of research now in progress will be needed to determine the full effects, but it already is known that marijuana can "impair memory" and users of high-potency marijuana sometimes develop anxiety and panic.

In Saigon, Ambrose said, "you can buy marijuana as easily as toothpaste" and heroin almost as easily.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and secretary of housing and urban development, George Romney, also stressed the spiritual nature of the problem, citing a vacuum in values, meaning and purpose, particularly among the young.

Egil Krog Jr., the President's deputy assistant for domestic affairs, said concern shown by the religious leaders indicated the value of another possible similar gathering in two months.

Telephone Ministries Answering Needs

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Sometimes, the callers are simply lonely. Sometimes they're worried, afraid, angry or desperate and on the verge of suicide. Whatever the difficulty, trained counselors seek to give immediate, initial helpby telephone.

It's a "vital ministry to human need," says the Rev. Ross W. Whetstone, executive director of CONTACT Teleministry Inc., of Nashville, Tenn., a national accrediting agency for the work.

Across the country, hundreds of such operations have begun in recent years, making emergency guidance and sympathy available to troubled people—on an individual basis—merely by dialing a telephone number.

"We have been given a great instrument for use in Christian service and we must use it with understanding and sensitivity," says the Rev. Mr. Whetstone, of the Methodist Board of Evangelism.

That board set up the new national coordinating council for telephone ministries, which the Rev. Mr. Whetstone now heads, and which this spring was incorporated as a separate, interdenomination agency.

So far, it has accredited telephone-counseling centers in 16 U.S. communities, and centers in at least 17 other communities are in various stages of qualifying.

To do so, they must meet certain standards, such as operating on a 24-hour basis, and volunteer counselors must have undergone at least 50 hours of training. Scores of other centers operateon a part-time or specialized basis.

The movement is "one of the greatest ideas embraced by the Christian church in decades," the Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, of New York City's Marble College Church, told 1,000 delegates to the first national teleministries conference this month in Newport News, Va.

His church operates one of the newest, busiest accredited centers, where about 70,000 callers have received guidance over "Help Line" since it was started a year ago. Summarizing the first year's results, a report says:

"Lives have been saved. Lonely people have found friends. Narcotics addicts have been helped back to normal lives. Haven has been found for unwed mothers. Prostitutes have been started on the road to mended. Runaways have decided reform. Marriages have been to return home."

God's Salvation Power

Romans 1:16 is a great verse for removing our shame from and establishing our faith in the miracle-working power of Christ's gospel. It is no less than Paul's own testimony to the good news. It can shape your convictions.

The sun is God's provision for light, heat, and energy. The rain is God's provision for water, refreshing, and vegetation. The earth is God's provision for man's habitation. Healing is God's provision for man's health. Language is God's provision for man's communication. This is only a start, but in every case what God provides is completely adequate.

Paul says the gospel is God's provision for salvation. He even says it is God's powerful provision to this end. Being a "power" for salvation, it can overcome ignorance, unbelief, sinfulness, wworldliness, indifference, anxiety, pride, and every other obstacle in the sinner's way. If all of God's provisions are adequate, how much more shall God's "power" produce the desired result?

Further, we are not ashamed to confess that the sun gives light, heat, and energy because the truth is established among us. We believe it and that settles it. So Paul believed the gospel is God's salvation power because he used it. He saw that it produced what God promised, and the fear of failure and embarrassment were gone. He proclaimed. God produced. He belived. He was not ashamed. It can happen to you!

Dunklin Church Hosts Bible Conference

CAMPBELL — A Bible Conference is being held at Calvary Baptist Church through Saturday, according to pastor Clifford Rice.

Baptist preachers of the area are presenting the messages each night, as follows: Wednesday, Mike Rice, ministerial student at Southern Baptist College, Walnut Ridge, Ark., with special music by students of the college; Thursday, Rev. Kenneth Treet, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Piggott, Ark., and Rev. Sonny Simpson, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, Corning, Ark.; Friday: Rev. Leonard Pigg, pastor of the Lone Hill Baptist Church near Poplar Bluff, and Rev. Jack Mick, pastor of the Dorena Baptist Church, Dorena; Saturday: Rev. Richard Adams, pastor of the Portageville First Baptist Church, and Rev. Sid Peterson, pastor of the Hayti First Baptist Church.

Services begin at 7:30 each evening. Everyone is invited to attend. A nursery will be provided each evening. The Calvary Baptist Church is located at North and Midland streets in Campbell.

Nun Receives Letter From Purse-Snatcher

DETROIT (AP) — A Dominican nun whose purse was grabbed as she walked alone on a Detroit street got a letter from the repentent purse - snatcher.

It read:

"I am more than sorry about what happened on the 17th of January, but to a certain extent I was forced for my reactions. I hope I didn't hurt your arm.

"I'm a drug addict. If I had a job, I could kick my habit."

BSU Choir to Sing at Trinity

The Baptist Student Union choir of Southeast Missouri State College of Cape Girardeau will be in concert at Trinity Baptist Church, Highway 61 North, Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

This 50-voice choir, under the direction of Dr. Robert Cox, will lead, in song and witness, the mid-week period of worship.

First Nazarene To Observe Baby Day

During the Sunday School Hour Sunday at First Church of the Nazarene special attention will be given to all the babies of the nursery department.

The efficient staff of this department has been working diligently to assure attendance of all who are enrolled in this department. An attendance of 100 per cent would include 26 children and teachers.

The teachers of this class include: Mrs. Ida Wallace, Mrs. Ida Powers, Mrs. Altha Lee, and Mrs. Leta Fay Swinney.

LONG-TERM MUSIC

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N.Y. (AP) — Ray Nelson's orchestra holds some sort of a record for longevity. This is the 39th straight year for them in the Bear Mountain Inn dining room.

Each of the 10 musicians has played at one time or another with a name band during the swing era.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

How the Bible Developed

II The Septuagint

The Bible has been an ever developing living great Book over the centuries. The Old Testament was first written in Hebrew but later many Jews settled in various countries of the Greek world and Greek became their daily language. It became imperative that the scriptures be translated into Greek.

Possibly the first and most valuable of these ancient translations into Greek was the Septuagint, meaning 70. According to history, in 275 B. C. Ptolemy II of Alexandria, Egypt, then the seat of learning and culture in the world, invited 70 or 72 Jewish scholars and translators from Palestine to translate their Hebrew scripture into Greek. Legend has it that the translation was made in 70 days, hence the name Septuagint.

The importance of the Septuagint in the development of the Bible is that it is the most reliable and most readable of all the early translations into Greek and has been handed down to us.

Scholars and translators since have used it and it was the beginning of spreading the Old Testament throughout the world.

Sikeston Girl Chosen For Mission Program

Jeannette Meredith

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—The Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board, at its April meeting, approved 74 young adults for journeyman training this summer.

Among those approved was Jeannette Meredith, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Meredith, 502 Ruth St., Sikeston, Mo. Currently a senior at Belmont College, Nashville, Tenn., Miss Meredith will be employed to teach missionary children in elementary grades in Guatemala.

The intensive seven-week journeyman training course prepares Baptist men and women no older than 26 for two years of work overseas with career missionaries.

They will train at Meredith College, Raleigh, N.C. Their job assignments include teaching, youth work, publishing, nursing, filming and television production, bookkeeping and secretarial work.

This is the seventh contingent of journeymen employed since the program was begun in 1965.

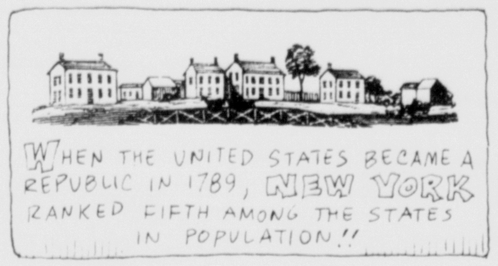
Generation Gap 15 Minutes

GLENDALE, Calif.(AP)—The generation gap in Bible reading seems to be about 15 hours, the Seventh-Day Adventist Church reports.

Adult volunteers took turns reading aloud from the 874,746-word King James Bible as the new year began. At the same time 200 others, most of them teen-agers, began reading from a variety of newer translations.

The adult group finished the book at 12:20 p.m. Monday, about 84 hours after the start and 15 hours after the younger group.

Church spokesmen said modern translations contain fewer words than the King James Bible and younger readers read faster than adults.



Parishioners Fight Lack of Priest

CLEAR CREEK, Mo. (AP)—Catholics in this central Missouri hamlet are disputing with religious fervor the lack of an assigned priest for their 100-year-old church, St. John's.

Mass is recited once a week by a visiting priest from Pilot Grove, Mo., but for all other services, including confession, parishioners of this Cooper County community must drive to St. Joseph's in Pilot Grove.

"Being Catholics, we know the bishop is boss and what he says goes, but in this case he's wrong," said Ed Twenter, one of the churchgoers.

A close friend, Fred Larm, agreed. "No priest, bishop or government officials are going to tell us where to go to church. We've made up our minds, and we're going to fight to keep our parish open."

The Jefferson City diocese, administered by Bishop Michael McAuliffe, assigned St. John's parish to mission status when the church's last permanently assigned priest left for health reasons. The parish school was closed for the fall term.

Twenter and Larm drafted a petition to the bishop who replied there were no priests or nuns available for the parish.

Four Injured

Four were injured in two traffic mishaps in the Bootheel area last night.

At 6:35 p.m. on highway 61 two miles north of Marston in New Madrid county, a 1963 Ford traveling north, drivn by Brenda Kay Prince, 21 of Marston, attempted to pass another vehicle, ran off the road and overturned, the highway patrol said.

The driver sustained a fractured right ankle. A passenger, Glen M. Peterson, 32, of New Madrid, suffered a back injury and a possible fractured collarbone.

Both were taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

On a gravel street at 7 p.m. in Wardell in Pemiscot county, a 1968 Dodge going north, driven by Bert Craig, 50, of Hayti, did not yield the right-of-way at an unmarked intersection, the patrol said, and struck a westbound 1962 Chevrolet, driven by James Edward Lemar, 20, of Caruthersville.

Both were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in Hayti.

About Our Schools

By Lynn Twitty

As the end of the school term approaches, and in fact, only about five weeks remains, it might be wise for parents to discuss their student's progress during the year and to emphasize the necessity of making good use of the remaining days of school. The student who might be behind at this time, could with better than usual effort, perhaps accomplish enough work to complete the year satisfactorily. Any student, regardless of his progress, could add to his fund of knowledge or skill by making a strong effort.

It is fairly easy at this point in the school term or in fact, this time of year, to let down and close the school on a descending note, consequently this advice. The faculty, we believe, will continue to use everyday to the end of school as usefully and as educationally valuable to the student as they possibly can.

W. F. "Bill" Sikes, Director of the Manpower Program has just advised us that it is probable that we will be designated a MDTA Skill Center by the Federal Government. This is a refinement of the program to provide vocational training to out-of-school youth and adults in order to provide them with a saleable skill and thus to find employment. Mr. Sikes and members of his faculty are preparing a proposal outlining the type of training which will be offered and with careful estimates of the funding necessary, for submission to the State Director of MDTA.

The skill center designation would provide additional services for the trainees which not only would improve their training opportunities, but would assist them with problems or needs which if unmet might hurt their chances for employment. Additional counseling services to assist in finding a job for which they will be fitted, will be better than under the present program although some of this help is now available. As skill centers are rated high in priority by the Department of Labor and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, it would also probably assure us of a continuation of vocational training for this area.

If approved, our Board of Education would receive supplemental funding to pay for the extra program and services which would be available to students. The current MDTA - Multi - Occupation Project which has been funded in the amount of $750,000 would be upped by 20% which means that the school would receive about $150,000 additional. Approximately $40,000 of this would be allocated to employment services for the aid which they would provide and the other $110,000 to educational opportunities for the students.

Currently 111 adults are enrolled for full time occupation training under MDTA here. During the six years that the program has been sponsored by our Board of Education, approximately 2,001 students have been trained. Of these about 85% have been employed which, we think, is a rather remarkable record for students who, for the most part, could not find jobs before they received this training.

According to Bob Miller, Director of Elementary Education, a summer program enrolling 180 students, grades 2-5 , will be conducted this summer at Southwest School. These students will be selected on the bases of their educational need, primarily those who have fallen behind, by teachers and principals in the elementary program.

An effort will be made during the six weeks that the program will run to provide educational opportunities or experiences that will help to bring these children nearer to the level of work which they should be accomplishing.

In addition to classroom work, field trips such as to the zoo, to ball games, for miniature golf, bowling, etc. will liven the program.

Eighteen classroom teachers; one director; one nurse and the necessary custodial and food service employees will conduct the program. Meals will be served free to those students who are enrolled and transprotation by bus will be provided along designated routes.

The hours will be from 9 A.M. to 1 P.M. The school will start June 14 and continue to July 23 with July 4 as a holiday. The cost of operating the program will be provided by federal funds under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. Parents of those children who are selected and who are eligible for the program, will be notified in the coming weeks.

At this time, state financing for Missouri's public schools for the next school year is uncertain. The General Assembly has not completed revenue bills necessary to provide the money which the state is obligated to pay for education in Missouri under the State School Foundation Program. The House has passed House Bill 670, which extends the 1971 state income tax for another year, but the Senate has not yet acted on this or other revenue procucing legislation.

The financial needs of the schools, higher education and other essential state services are critical. For this reason, it is important that concerned citizens, and certainly everyone is involved in education and benefits from it should be expressed to our senator, Albert Spradling. We appreciate the support which our representative, Tony Heckemeyer, gave to HB 670.

Federal Jury Indicts Bowers

ST. LOUIS— A federal grand jury indicted a Scott City, Mo., man on firearms charge Wednesday and announced two other firearms indictments handed down two weeks ago.

The grand jury reported in the court of the U.S. District Judge James H. Meredith.

Indicted Wednesday was Ralph Leon Bowers, 40, of 600 Ruth ave., Scott City, for willfully and knowingly engaging in the business of firearms without a license. The penalty is a fine of not more than $5,000, a prison term of not more than five years or both.

Suppressed indictments were returned April 14 against Donald John Madsen, 36, of Rural Route 1, Pacific, Mo., and John Jacob Madsen, 29, of Star Route, Bloomsdale, Mo. The suppression was lifted Wednesday after the men were apprehended.

Both men were charged with possession of a firearm after being convicted of a felony. The indictment stems from an incident in a tavern in Festus, when both Madsens allegedly struck one patron and pointed a gun at another.

Battlefield Deaths Top 45,000-Mark

SAIGON (AP)–The U.S. Command confirmed today that American battlefield deaths have passed the 45,000 mark in a decade of fighting in Vietnam.

The command said 45 U.S. servicemen were killed in action last week to raise the war total to 45,019 as of midnight Saturday.

The command also reported 518 Americans were wounded last week to bring to 298,289 that toal since Jan. 1, 1961.

Last week's 45 combat deaths were nine less than the previous week but the 418 wounded more than doubled the 195 reported for the week earlier.

Auditor Approves 12 Fee Offices

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)–State Auditor Christopher Kit Bond has released audits for 12 license fee offices of the department of revenue, noting all generally conform with the data and cash submitted to the department.

The offices audited for the calendar year 1970:

Bolivar, Buffalo, Cassville, Grandview, Kirksville, LaPlata Lebabon, Memphis and Unionville.

Audited for the period July 1, 1970 through Dec. 31; Clarksville, Osceola and Milan.

'Mame' Audience Pleaser

First Nighters See Difficult Musical

A difficult musical was presented on the stage of the junior high school gymnasium last night to an appreciative audience. The staging was simple and the warmth, and effervescence of the cast came across the footlights to the audience in a fine way, particularly in the second act.

After a slow beginning, the tempo picked up and carried the audience along to a standing ovation at the conclusion of the play.

With difficult music, the chorus did a commendable job, with only a few weak spots. A bouquet goes to Laretha Harris, who provided the piano accompaniement and to Mike Marshall on bass.

Dennis Casey and Trent Joyce are to be complimented for their performance as Young Patrick and Peter respectively.

The principals were fine in their roles and it was good to see new talent making itself known to Sikeston Little Theatre goers in the persons of Paul Carter and Betty Harris.

It was exceptionally good to see the fine talents of Peggy Ziegenhorn, Sandy York, Buddy Clayton and Francis Schumacher, all of whom have delighted Little Theatre audiences in past performances, and continues to do so tonight.

Also, Ricky Venson presented a fine characterization of Ito the Japanese house boy, and Lyman Dale as the staid Dwight Babcock was believable.

To Joel Allen as the Older Patrick goes a special bouquet. A great job of acting and singing was presented by this youngman last evening. Joel proved that his talents lie not only backstage, but on stage as well.

Hope Terrell did a fine job as Mame's best friend Vera -- particularly in the second act when both Mame and Vera sang "Bosom Buddies".

Miss Agnes Gooch, in the person of Carole Sue Clayton literally stole the show last evening with her performance as Mame's secretary who finds that one can "live, live, live," a little too much. Her performance was a show stopper in several scenes.

And Mame, portrayed by Patsy Mitchell. Really what can anyone say about Patsy. She has delighted Little Theatre members in almost every musical presented by SLT ... and I can assure you that last evening was no exception. Patsy was a joy to behold, particularly in the second act, as she played the hirarious role of Mame Dennis Burnside.

Danforth Rules Aid to Nonpublic Schools Legal

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) -- Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth has held that a bill the House killed Tuesday does not violate the Missouri Constitution.

The measure would have provided state aid to nonpublic schools through the procedure of buying secular education. After a stormy argument the House killed the bill on a 71-86 vote, giving it 11 less affirmative votes than needed for House passage.

It was not known immediately whether the attorney general's opinion might prompt an attempt to reconsider the bill. Sponsors have until Monday to do so.

Danforth said he was not ruling whether the bill violated the U.S. Constitution but confirmed his legal opinion to the state constitution.

He said it was not a payment in behalf of a religious group and "no grant or gift is involved when in exchange for an amount of money children of the state entitled to a free public education receive secular educational services."

Many efforts have been made over the years to find some constitututional means of helping finance the education provided Missouri school children who attend private or parochial schools. All have failed on the argument that it would be in violation of the constitutional separation of church and state.

Rep. James F. Conway, DSt. Louis, said he would probably "make an attempt Monday" to have the bill reconsidered because "I feel it has the votes to go.

Conway said a number of supporters of the measure were absent Tuesday when the bill was defeated and that he has added still more "marginal" support.

"This proposal is a very important question and one which must be resolved," Conway said. "Rural areas are not appreciably affected, but it is very important to urban areas where one of four children attend nonpublic schools."

He said today he could count 84 votes for the measure, but preferred more assurance before bringing the bill up for reconsideration in light of the attorney general's opinion.

Book Review

THREE WHO DARED
by Tom Cohen
(A Camelot Book ZV180/.75/128pp.)

The Three Who Dared of Tom Cohen's true story are three young Northerners--two white and one black--who went south to engage in the fight for freedom during the early stages of the civil rights movement. Deeply committed to the struggled for justice and equality which grew out of the late 1950's and 1960's, these young men of quite different backgrounds--a lawyer, a would-be playwright, a college dropout--put their principles to work in teaching legal rights, history and skills to Southern Negroes.

THREE WHO DARED recounts the obstacle that the three had to overcome, their sacrifices, their accomplishments, and their enduring faith in the civil rights movement. Called a "compelling documentary" by Saturday Review, THREE WHO DARED makes its first appearance in paperback in a Camelot edition on March 20th.

CINDY ON FIRE

Burt Hirschfeld's CINDY ON FIRE debuts this month with a first printing of over half -a -million copies and a mammoth promotion and advertising campaign.

An Avon original, CINDY ON FIRE is the sequel to the author's enormously successful novel, FIRE ISLAND, which has remained a paperback bestseller since its publication as an Avon original last August.

-That's The Law

Host Not Liable For Drunk Guest

By Jack Strauss,LL.B.

Mr. & Mrs. Jones invited Hondo to the wedding reception of their daughter. At the gala affair, however, Hondo apparently tried to drink Canada dry because by the time he left, he was reeling pretty good. In fact, he managed to drive only three blocks before the inevitable occurred. He barrelled head-on into the rear of Mabel's automobile.

Crawling turtle-like out of the wreckage, groggy Mabel not only sued Hondo for her injuries, but she sued Mr. Jones as well.

"There'd been no accident," she complained in court, "except for the fact that Mr. Jones permitted Hondo to get so tanked up. Having supplied him with so much booze, he's the one who should really be held responsible for the consequences."

"That's absurd," responded Mr. Jones. "A wedding is a celebration. And, if a guest celebrates too much, it's not the fault of the host. Riding herd on overimbibing guests just isn't his responsibility."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold Mr. Jones liable for the accident of his boozing guest?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that private individuals are not liable for the actions of their social guests who overindulge in the liquid hospitality provided at a private home or private parties.

(Based upon a 1967 Michigan Court of Appeals Decision).

Q—On what is Archibald MacLeish's drama "J.B." based?

A—This poetic drama is a parable of our times based on the Bible story of Job.

Q—What is the longest obituary on record?

A—That of Thomas Edison occupied 4½ pages in the New York Times of the day after his death, in 1931.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

All these, though well attested by their faith, did not receive what was promised, since God had foreseen something better for us, that apart from us they should not be made perfect. (Hebrews 11:39-40 RSV)

PRAYER: Our Father, we pray for the desire and ask Thee for the strength to do our small part to further Thy kingdom among men. Amen.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, April 30, the 120th day of 1971. There are 245 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1789, George Washington inaugurated in New York as the first president of the United States.

On this date:

In 1798, the U.S. Navy Department was created by an act of Congress.

In 1803, the United States made the Louisiana Purchase from France, more than doubling the nation's size.

In 1812, Louisiana was admitted into the Union as the 18th state.

In 1945, the Soviets announced that their flag flew over the ruins of the Reichstag in Berlin.

Ten years ago: U.S. citizens in Cuba were advised by Washington to leave the island.

Five years ago: There were May Day peace demonstrations in Saigon.

One year ago: U.S. combat troops were sent into Cambodia to drive Communists from their staging zone.

Adopted Year Later
